WEATHER

Cloudy, with rain ending late today, high about 71. Sunday, partly cloudy and cooler.

Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

Cloudy skies with rain ending late today. Gradual clearing and turning cooler tonight. High temperature in the low 70s. Wind southerly 10 to 18 miles per hour, becoming west to southwest this afternoon and tonight, Sunday, partly cloudy and cooler. Friday, high 76, low 61, with .01 inch precipitation. River level 2.8 feet and rising.

KINZUA DAM REPORT

Pool level 1302.36 feet. Upstream temperature 61 degrees. Downstream temperature 52 degrees. The reading at the Warren gauge 2.84 feet.

WARREN COUNTY

The dilemma faced in Warren through the first step in urban renewal by Montgomery Ward Co. was outlined before Borough Council by Marshall Linman, local store manager.

PENNSYLVANIA

The Pennsylvania State Education Assn. registers dissatisfaction with Gov. Shafer's proposed public employee legislation.

THE NATION

Hurricane Gladys, growing in fury, hammers coastal cities of the Tampa Bay area with thundering winds and sends storm tides crashing ashore.

Apollo 7 astronauts, with a cheer of, "Yabba Dabba Do," execute the mightiest maneuver ever for a manned space ship, in a rehearsal for a moon shot.

THE WORLD

The threat of additional trouble following the dramatic expulsion of U.S. sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos failed to materialize as Lee Evans, another militant black athlete, won the 400 meter run and accepted his medal without incident.

Gay Jackie Kennedy and wealthy Aristotle Onassis meet with a cheek kiss, then fly to his island for a wedding Sunday. U.S. intelligence analysts believe the equivalent of five North Vietnamese army divisions have pulled out of South Vietnam since late September, but are unsure what this means.

Most of the Soviet Bloc troops will withdraw from Czechoslovakia within two months, but 70,000 Russian troops will remain indefinitely.

SPORTS

Warren vs. Jamestown: today sees another chapter in that now-hallowed rivalry between the two schools unfold at Memorial Field. The Dragons are seeking a win after two last-minute losses, while the Raiders want revenge for last year's 40-0 loss to Warren. Rain or shine, it could shape up to be the game of the season for both clubs.

Cassadaga provides the field and the facilities this afternoon as Eisenhower treks into the territory of the perennial Conference champions in search of a victory. Returnees should aid the Knight cause materially.

Go to the game just to watch the halftime show. That's what may happen with quite a few music sports fans when New Orleans' Saints meet the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Youngsville's Eagles suffered their sixth defeat of the season in the rain Friday night at the hands of the Townville Eagles.

The expulsion of two American athletes from the United States Olympic team created a day of consternation in Mexico City as uncertainty developed over whether other sympathizers would boycott the games.

The controversy didn't bother Bob Beamon, Lee Evans and Jim Ryun as the three Yanks annexed medals in their events. The United States increased its medal lead to a near-record 16 for this stage of the Games.

Baltimore gets the nod over Cleveland while Buffalo should squeak by Boston as AP's sports analyst takes a look at the weekend professional football schedule.

Warren's moment of fame in the history of professional basketball is not forgotten; and the role of the town and the players was brought out once again Thursday night as Erie's Reno Strand, a former player in this town, was given a testimonial dinner.

AS THE LEAVES COME TUMBLING DOWN

Leaves of brown and varied hue hail October weather. Boys and dogs have a romp or two in a scene that's old but ever new. Turning to a more serious thought, where the romping takes place is of particular interest to area police agencies, who warn youngsters of the danger when playing in leaves piled high in streets. ## Olympic Tension Eases After Blacks' Expulsion

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The threat of additional trouble following the dramatic expulsion of U.S. sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos failed to materialize Friday night as Lee Evans, another militant black athlete, won the Olympic 400 meter run and accepted his gold medal without incident.

The possibility of more racial protests and a general walkout by American athletes cropped up earlier in the day after the U.S. Olympic Committee suspended Smith and Carlos for their actions in a victory ceremony Wednesday night.

Douglas Roby, president of the committee, said U.S. officials took the action after the International Olympic Committee threatened to throw the entire American squad out of the Games if action were not taken.

When Evans said he would run in the 400 and not pull out, it was surmised he might follow the lead of his close friends from San Jose State College in the victory ceremony for the 400.

When Evans, second place Larry James of White Plains, N.Y., and third place Ron Freeman of Elizabeth, N.J., mounted the award stand, they wore black berets and gave a clenched fist salute.

However, when the national anthem was played, they took off the berets, held their hands at their sides and faced the flag.

At the award ceremony for the 200 meter dash, Smith and Carlos wore black socks with no shoes and each raised a black gloved hand above his head while the anthem was played.

"Everything has worked out fine, Lee Evans, accepted his medal in fine style," said Everett Barnes, acting director of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

In a post ceremony interview, Evans said they wore the berets because it was raining. Asked about the clenched fist salutes, he said: "It is just a salute. Some do it like this, some do it like that. This is our way of saluting."

All three medalists, however, declined comment on the suspensions of Smith and Carlos. Barnes, on the other hand, reiterated the pair had been told to leave the country.

"They have their tickets for home and 48 hours from tonight in which to leave," he said. He admitted, however, that the U.S. committee has no power to order the two out of Mexico. Barnes credited former Olympic stars Jesse Owens and Billy Mills with keeping other American athletes from getting upset.

Scandia Fire Hall Open House

Open house will be observed for the dedication of the new Scandia Fire Hall from 2 to 6 p.m. Sunday. The dedication ceremony will take place at 2:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

MASTER PLAN: FIFTH IN A SERIES

County's Highway Program Established by Priorities

The overall highway program is broken down into a series of priorities based on traffic needs and likely impact. It is to be presented, as required by the state highway department, in a series of six year programs. The shorter range plans are not independent proposals submitted every six years but a growing document to which is added every year proposals for the sixth year in the future.

The current plan outlines proposals to be implemented in 1973 and 1974. Proposals expected to see fruition between now and 1973 are the Youngsville Bypass, now under construction, the Warren Bypass, expected to go under construction next year; a four-lane controlled-access highway connecting the Warren and Youngsville bypasses and the widening to four lanes of Rt. 62 north from Warren. Discussion of the Rt. 62 project with state highway and government is now in progress.

The program for 1973-1974 concentrates on the west bank of the Allegheny Reservoir. The first three priorities deal with roads in that area.

Priority 1: a connector road between Rt. 59 and Scandia rd. The three mile stretch would run from Rt. 59 at Hemlock, bridge the Allegheny River and run northwest to join Scandia rd. just north of the intersection of Cobham Park rd. This road would link east and west bank traffic eliminating the need to drive all the way to Warren to cross the river. An estimated two to three thousand cars would use the road each day.

PRIORITY 2: reconstruction of Scandia rd. from the intersection of Hatch Run rd. north to the New York State line. This 9.5 mile length of road would be part of a perimeter route encircling the reservoir. Cost $1.5 million.

PRIORITY 3: relocation and reconstruction of Hatch Run rd. from Scandia rd. west and extended across Conewango Creek to meet Rt. 62 north of Warren. Length 4.5 miles. Cost $2-million. This road together with the route called for in Priority 1 would link Rt. 62 and Rt. 59 skirting Warren.

The plan suggests all these roads be designed as scenic routes and constructed to a width of 22 to 24 feet. Because these roads are not expected to pop up over night, the plan suggests the present Scandia rd. be resurfaced and the shoulders improved to handle west bank traffic until the proposed roads are completed. This stop gap measure has been compiled with in part with the improvement of a section of Cobham Park rd. Improvement of the rest is in the discussion stage.

The remaining priorities in the 1973-1974 plan (eight of them) deal with traffic circulation through the county.

PRIORITY 4: extension of Rt. 6 as a four-lane controlled-access highway west from the terminus of the Youngsville bypass three miles to the intersection of Rts. 6 and 27 and construction of an interchange at the intersection. Cost $1.5 million.

PRIORITY 5: a four-lane divided relocation of Rt. 6 from Corry four miles east bypassing Columbus and eliminating the railroad underpass on Rt. 6 in Columbus. Cost $3-million.

PRIORITY 6: acquisition of a right-of-way in order to later increase to four lanes the Kiantone rd. from Akeley to the New York State line. This 9.5 mile

Hurricane Gladys Batters Tampa Bay Area Sending Tides Crashing Ashore

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Gladys, growing in fury, hammered coastal cities of the Tampa Bay area with thundering winds Friday night and sent storm tides crashing ashore that flooded roads, isolated homes and collapsed buildings on the beaches.

No deaths or injuries were reported in the early hours of the storm's assault on the central Florida Gulf Coast, but heavy property damage from wind-whipped waves was threatened.

Sea water rushed into the lobes of beachfront motels and undermined the foundations of motels and homes. Some buildings were reported collapsing.

At Clearwater, a jet-like gust of wind peeled part of the roof off the high school gymnasium in which an evacuation center had been set up for tourists. Rain poured through the gap.

A hurricane hunter pilot flying into the eye of the storm 30 miles west of the coastal town of New Port Richey found sustained winds of 75 miles an hour and estimated that gusts were reaching 100 m.p.h.

Gladys was moving northeast at seven miles an hour, on a course that would send her crashing into the coastline between Bayport and Crystal River, an area about 30 miles north of Tampa Bay.

Two of the three causeways across Tampa Bay were closed by floodwaters. At Clearwater Beach, the winds were pushing sea waters up Gulfview Boulevard, the main thoroughfare. Many automobiles were stranded on washed-out beach roads. Bayshore Boulevard, a scenic drive in Tampa, was impassable under three feet of water.

Tampa International Airport was closed as the wind reached heights dangerous to air traffic and knocked out the landing lights.

After plowing a northward course for three days, Gladys veered in toward the coast during the afternoon, catching residents by surprise and touching off a frantic evacuation of waterfront areas.

Although many storm shelters were opened, officers reported that only a few hundred persons took advantage of them. The great majority elected to sit out the storm in their homes.

Apollo Crew Triggers Mightiest Space Maneuver

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — With a cheer "yabba dabba do," the chatty Apollo 7 astronauts triggered the mightiest maneuver ever made by a manned spaceship in one of several critical tests Friday that helped clear America's path to the moon.

A power failure in West Virginia later knocked out briefly worldwide tracking circuits that carry technical data from orbiting Apollo 7 to Mission Control Center here. Voice communications remained strong, however, so the three pilots relayed readings from their instruments.

"The machine performed beautifully," said commander Walter M. Schirra Jr. after the powerful main Apollo 7 engine flashed to life for a 66-second burn that pushed the three pilots against their couches 120 miles over the Gulf of Mexico.

The maneuver simulated lengthy engine firings that will be needed to kick future astronauts into orbit around the moon and back to earth.

Making like men going to the moon, Navy Capt. Schirra and his two Apollo 7 copilots, 1st Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham, then rolled and roared their spaceship through the heavens for several hours to test a power-saving method of using the sun's heat to keep spacecraft components warm.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said a power outage connecting the global tracking network to Mission Control was traced to a major electrical failure at Pennsylvania, W. Va.

Within minutes, officials switched to alternate circuits and partially restored data transmission to Mission Control from the network's heart at Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md. In 15 minutes, the entire network was back on the line.

As Apollo 7 sped past the one-week mark in its 11-day marathon mission, and with most of the flight goals already achieved, the three pilots began looking forward to coming back to earth Tuesday.

"We're getting worried about all the paper work accumulating on our desk," Schirra said. Pm-loving Schirra, told that his wife Jo was in Mission Control, said, "Very good. Tell her I'll drop in sometime next week."

Told in a ground-to-spacecraft news broadcast that Jacqueline Kennedy plans to marry Greek magnate Aristotle Onassis, Schirra responded: "That's Greek to me."

And while taking a strip of pictures of Hurricane Gladys in the Gulf of Mexico near Tampa, Fla., the witty Apollo 7 commander told flight controllers, "We're going to strip here. You can play the music."

At several points before and after the astronauts fired their big spacecraft engine, however, Schirra criticized flight planners on the ground for directing a change in the engine firing procedure.

The change required Schirra to shut off the engine based on a speedometer reading in the cabin.

U.S. Planes Continue Attacks Despite Possible Bombing Halt

SAIGON (AP) — The ground war slackened off another day in South Vietnam Friday but U.S. planes kept up their attacks on the North Vietnamese panhandle despite speculation that a halt in the air strikes may be imminent.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu was preparing to break his silence on a new package peace proposal from the United States to Hanoi.

High government spokesmen said Thieu would discuss the subject "if he is asked about it" during a Saturday morning visit to Vung Tau, a beach resort 40 miles east of Saigon.

The announced purpose of Thieu's trip is to visit a pacification training center and confer with the four Vietnamese corps commanders.

Thieu has made no public statements on the subject while holding four meetings in the past two days with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker.

The peace plan was understood to be under study by North Vietnam.

But there was no indication that Thieu was ready to make known the Saigon government's decision on the question of a bombing halt.

A foreign Ministry source was quoted by a Saigon newspaper Friday as saying South Vietnam remains opposed to such a move without guarantees of reciprocal restraint or deescalation by Hanoi.

A decline in ground action in the last few days, however, has helped to feed speculation that the enemy is purposely holding back to await developments connected with the new U.S. proposal.

U.S. military officials said they saw nothing unusual in the lessening of contact. They pointed out that similar lulls have occurred frequently in the past two months, only to be broken by renewed enemy activity.

U.S. spokesmen said again Friday night that they had no information that might signal a suspension of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. Raids apparently were scheduled to be carried out as usual on Saturday.

U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine jets Friday kept up the steady pounding of enemy supply channels in the southern panhandle, the area south of North Vietnam's 19th Parallel. Reports on the raids won't be available until Saturday.

Pilots reported destroying or damaging at least 18 supply boats Thursday.

American military sources said the air crews are concentrating more on the waterways because there is now less truck traffic moving south.

Two American helicopters were shot down by enemy groundfire, one 25 miles northeast of Saigon Wednesday.

U.S. Military Experts Believe 5 Enemy Divisions Withdrawn

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence analysts believe the equivalent of five North Vietnamese army divisions have pulled out of South Vietnam since late September.

The prevailing military opinion here is that these divisions have gone into North Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia to refit, resupply, reorganize and reinforce. The enemy has followed this pattern often in the past.

But American military sources conceded they could not dismiss the possibility that the enemy pullback this time might be connected with negotiations on a possible total halt of U.S. bombing in North Vietnam.

Analysts estimate that between 40,000 and 60,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers have moved out of South Vietnam. This includes some enemy independent battalions and sapper units which have disappeared.

Former Local Woman Killed In Car Mishap

Mrs. Antoinette "Toni Jo" Crockett, a former Warren resident, was dead on arrival at St. John's Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio, Friday, morning, following a three-car accident on Clifton Blvd.

Mrs. Crockett was the wife of Leon Crockett, 10115 Detroit ave., Cleveland. She was reported a passenger in one of the three cars involved in the accident on Clifton Blvd., near West 105th st., Cleveland, about 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Crockett was born in Warren, Aug. 1, 1945. She is survived by her husband; two children, Todd Allen, 4 and Shawn, five months; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cerando, Emans, a suburb of Allentown, who are former Warren residents; two sisters, Mrs. James (Paula) English, Klinehook Air Force Base, Mich. and Periana, at home; a brother, Randy Cerando, at home; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Carmella Cerando, 414 Laurel st., Warren; maternal grandparents, Mrs. Bess Perry, Florida, and Jeff Perry, Mountsville, W. Va.; two aunts, Mrs. James (Vicky) Myers, Warren, and Mrs. Charles (Mary) DeMarco, Jamestown; an uncle, Sam Cerando, Warren.

Friends may call at the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home, Warren, Sunday afternoon and evening. Funeral services will be Monday.

YOUNGVILLE NEWS

Women's Club BPW Week Observance Set

Members of Youngville Business and Professional Women's Club will attend church together tomorrow in observance of National BPW Week.

They will go to Youngville First United Methodist Church, and each woman will wear a red silk rosebud. The red rose is the BPW emblem. It is to be worn all week by the members and those who fail to do so will be fined.

On Tuesday evening the local club will travel to Titusville to join the club there for a celebration dinner at the Drake Hotel.

Principal speaker at the dinner will be the State president, Miss Betty Hollis of Uniontown, who was a guest in Youngville last weekend at the District meeting of fifteen clubs. The theme of Miss Hollis' address then was "The Road to Somewhere." It focused on the fiftieth anniversary of the Business and Professional Women's Club, which will be celebrated next year at St. Louis, Missouri.

The Youngville hosts featured the "golden" anniversary in banquet table decorations, arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums set in golden arches like the famed St. Louis Gateway Arch.

Accused Killer Taken to WSH

BRADFORD — Edward Lee Frederick, 21, of Rixford, charged with murder in the death of Miss Stephany Ann Spack, 15, of 63 Quodrio st. in Sept., was taken to Warren State Hospital Thursday for a mental evaluation examination, as required by law.

Sheriff L. W. Pendleton said an order to that effect had been issued by County Judge Glenn E. Mencer.

The young mother was allegedly bludgeoned and stabbed by the defendant, who is awaiting action during the next term of criminal court. Her daughter, Joyann Elizabeth, two months, was pronounced dead on arrival at Bradford Hospital the same evening.

The infant's death, according to Coroner Gale F. Hollenbeck, was due to suffocation, but Frederick has denied any involvement in the child's demise, according to authorities.

Five Uninjured In 2-Car Crash

Five persons escaped serious injury Friday in a two-car crash on Route 62 about two miles south of Tidouite.

The mishap occurred at 2:30 p.m., according to state police of the local substation, when Nancy Fike, 33, 244 Main st., Tidouite, driving south, lost control of her vehicle crossed the center of the highway and collided with a car operated by Howard M. Albaugh, 65, 105 Curtis st., Tarentum, Pa.

Police said, three persons sustained minor injuries. Margaret Albaugh, 59 sustained a bruised leg, according to police, while Nancy Fike and 12-year-old Julie Fike both sustained bruises and abrasions. None of the injured were hospitalized.

Damage to the Fike car was $1,200, police estimated, while damage to the Albaugh car was $800.

Infant Hurt In Auto Crash

Christopher Lucas, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lucas, 1204 East Ninth st., Erie, was treated at Warren General Hospital for head cuts following a two-car accident on Rt. 6, two miles east of Pittsfield, Friday night.

Warren State Troopers said Christopher was a passenger in a car driven by his father, George Lucas 25. Troopers said the Lucas car hit the rear of an auto driven by Glenn Thompson, 38, of RD 1, Grand Valley, as the Thompson car was turning into a drive.

State line. The current proposal for widening Rt. 62 north of Warren calls for the four-lane section to end at Russell. This priority also includes right-of-way acquisition to extend the four lane highway from Russell to Kiantone rd.

PRIORITY 7: reconstruction and relocation of Rt. 6 as a four lane highway west seven miles from Pittsfield.

PRIORITY 8: reconstruction as four-lanes a five-mile length of Rt. 6, which will complete the route as a four-lane highway from Warren to Corry. Cost $4.5 million.

Priorities 9 through 11 deal with the Master plan proposal for the reconstruction of Rt. 27 between Pittsfield and Titusville.

PRIORITY 9: reconstruction of three miles of Rt. 27 from Pittsfield to Garland. Cost $1-million.

PRIORITY 10: reconstruction of 7.7 miles of Rt. 27 south from Garland. Cost $6.8-million.

PRIORITY 11: completion of reconstruction of

Master Plan

Rt. 27 south to the Crawford County line. This section is a realignment of the route which will shorten the distance to Titusville. Length 7.7 miles. Cost $4.2 million.

The six-year programs are state mandated but their submission to the state highway department is not an automatic guarantee that the proposals will be carried out. The long range highway scheme set down in the master plan and the shorter range proposals in the six year plans, by virtue of their being well considered and ordered solutions to the county's traffic problems, are valuable ammunition in the continuing effort to get highway funds allocated for local use.

However, it is likely that they will have to be augmented by regular discussions with district and state highway officials, constant reminders to those officials of existing highway deficiencies and the endless rounds of political pat-a-cake required whenever there are more needed roads than money to build them.

Renewal

whereby they could construct a new auto service center within the Liberty street project and retain the unity of their business here without disrupting traffic flow through the lot and creating a loss of only seven parking spaces.

The store also asked council to direct the planning commission to review the five-year-old urban renewal plan designed by officials who no longer serve on either body and made prior to the actual impact of the Kinzua Dam.

Borough council president instructed the planning commission to review Linman's request immediately.

Ward's has indicated time and time again it appreciates the need for additional parking in the downtown area, but stresses it should not be accomplished at the expense of businesses. The present project is forcing five businesses out of the area—Logan's Men's Shop, Isabelle's, Ward's Auto Service and two parking lots where employees were paid.

The M-W spokesman emphasized that at council meeting the problems of other areas discussed such as Titusville, Jamestown and Oil City were said not to be of concern here because "we have a plan for our area for a parking lot."

This was termed a misstatement since there is a plan included for a 100 by 70 foot commercial building at the front end of the lot in the planning stage for five years.

Linman told the Times-Mirror and Observer that although bids to construct this facility have been advertised for seven months, not one bona fide bid has been received. It was indicated by urban renewal representatives, Linman stated, that local money is not interested. He added that without construction of a commercial building as spelled out in urban renewal plans, the project will be faced with an open hole.

Ward's asked clarification of a statement made by a representative of the Parking Authority at council meeting Monday in regard to possible construction of a multi-level parking lot in which it was said total cost would be approximately $10,000 per parking space. Two members of council corrected the statement noting they believed that in both Erie and Jamestown, the cost was $2,400 per space. It was recommended deeper study in to this type project.

Linman pointed out that it was a year and a half before a meeting between Ward officials, the parking authority, redevelopment authority and others was finally arranged despite repeated requests to sit down and discuss the problem.

According to Linman the auto service center represents 25 per cent of Ward's business in the area or about $250,000. It is Ward's position that a year's conscientious searching by everyone has failed to develop any relocation deals with which the company or its landlord can live with away from the main store.

While Montgomery Ward's, Linman said, does not want to leave Warren, it is possible this may occur unless some sort of compromise can be reached soon. It is hoped that council will determine that possible advantages of urban renewal will not outweigh the adverse consequences to downtown Warren if Ward's is forced to close.

MANFREY DAY PROCLAIMED

Mayor Donald E. Conaway, right, Friday proclaimed today (Oct. 19) to be observed by the citizens of Warren borough as Eugene R. Manfrey Day. Manfrey was installed July 19, 1968 at the Philadelphia Convention as Departmental Commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, State of Pennsylvania. He thereby became leader of its 150,000 members, the largest contingent in the United States. The mayor, in congratulating the Warren man, said the honor bestowed on Eugene R. Manfrey for his devoted and dedicated service to our veterans is well deserved. Richard Homan, National VFW Commander, will be in Warren this evening at a testimonial dinner for Manfrey. ## Jackie and Onassis Will Marry Sunday

ANDRAVIDHA, Greece (AP) — A gay Jacqueline Kennedy and millionaire Aristotle Onassis met with a cheek kiss Friday and flew to his tiny island of Scorpios to marry Sunday.

For Jacqueline it was the end of a lonely widowhood that began when an assassin's bullet killed President John F. Kennedy five years ago.

For the Golden Greek, whose Midas touch ran a $60 stake into a fortune estimated at $500 million, it was the climax of a spectacular career.

Mrs. Kennedy and her two children flew here from the New York airport named after her late husband. She came in a special flight of a jet airliner of Olympic Airways, which is owned by the man she will marry.

Vivacious Jacqueline, at 39, will marry a man more than 20 years older. Onassis, stocky and putting on weight in recent years, is 62.

A woman spokesman for Onassis announced the wedding date would be Sunday although he himself had intimated earlier it might be Saturday.

"Mr. Onassis himself is handling all the details and has revealed nothing further to us yet," she said.

She said she did not have a complete list of the guests that would arrive, but they would be ferried to Scorpios by helicopter. No reporters or photographers will be permitted on the island because Onassis wants the wedding to be as private as possible, she added.

The Greek shipping magnate flew here from Athens in an Olympic Airways DC6 to welcome his bride-to-be.

Although the word has been around that Jacqueline does not like to be called Jackie, that's what Onassis called her.

When he left Athens Airport he told newsmen they would spend their honeymoon on Scorpios, which he bought six years ago, "unless Jackie wants to make a tour of the Mediterranean with Christina."

Christina is the one-time Canadian corvette that Onassis converted into a luxury yacht.

Collins Re-elected Head Of Barbershoppers Group

Plummer F. Collins, of the Warren Chapter S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A., was reelected district president for the year 1969 of the Seneca Land District S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. as its fall convention at Corning, Friday and Saturday, October 11 and 12. Other officers of the Warren Chapter of Barbershoppers re-

PLUMMER F. COLLINS elected to district offices are: Alfred L. Lauffenburger, District Secretary, and Eugene Schwanke, Cornplanter Area Counsellor.

In the chorus competition held in conjunction with convention, fourteen choruses competed. The Warren Chapter chorus, the "Conewango Clippers," tied for third place with the Onondaga Chapter from Syracuse, N.Y. First place winner was the "Fundamentals" chorus from Rochester, N.Y. Second place went to the Binghamton-Johnson City chapter. At the critique session the judges were most enthusiastic about the "new sound" of the Warren chorus. They pointed out that it was only minor things that kept the Warren chorus from taking first place.

The "Instigators," 1966-1967 District Quartet Champions, made guest appearances before the competition on Saturday morning and at the evening show Saturday evening. As usual the "Instigators" gave an outstanding performance. The quartet is from the Warren chapter, and is composed of: Paul Mahan, tenor; Dave Reynolds, lead; Steve Cruickshank, baritone; and Bill Crozier, bass. Steve Cruickshank is also director of the Warren chorus.

Many members of the Warren chapter were accompanied by their wives. Saturday evening members with their ladies enjoyed a Smorgasbord in the club room on the top floor of the Baron Steuben hotel in Corning.

At a meeting of the Warren Chapter Monday evening, October 14, 1968, the following officers were elected for the year 1969: Eugene Schwanke president; Paul Lewis, membership vice president; Heinz Kuhs, program vice president; Jim Gotto, corresponding secretary; Tom Singer, recording secretary; and Richard Swick, treasurer. Board members at large: Ken Greenlund, Dave Reynolds and Eldo DeLong.

The members of Warren Chapter are now preparing for their 22nd annual show, set for Saturday evening, January 18, 1969.

They are looking forward to hearing some of International's finest quartets who will headline the show.

PSEA Dissatisfied With Public Employee Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Education Association (PSEA) registered its dissatisfaction Friday with Gov. Shafer's proposed public employe legislation.

President Joseph Standa of the professional teachers' union contended that the proposal was too restrictive.

Standa said his group wanted a bill that would permit negotiations on more issues than just wages and working conditions. He said it should allow for a limited right to strike, and permit some form of direct or indirect political activity by public employe organizations.

"The administration's bill is so restrictive in its scope of negotiations that it gives the impression the only thing teachers want is better salaries," said Standa. "Teachers also want a voice in determining school policy, especially on matters relating to curriculum, conditions of employment and standards of service."

Standa said the PSEA, as a professional organization, feels its members have the responsibility to make use of their "broad expertise in the field of education" through negotiating standards and policies with "their public employers who may be endowed with little or no knowledge of teaching or education."

State Will Seek Death Penalty Against Accused Police Slayers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dist. Atty. Arlen Specter said Friday he will demand the death penalty for two men charged with murder in the slaying of patrolman William L. Lackman.

Lackman, 34, was wounded fatally Thursday in a battle in which robbery suspect John Seeley, 31, was slain.

At a news conference, Specter said he will seek the death penalty for anyone convicted of a crime when a policeman is slain.

Albert Schwartz, 22, and John McIntire, 24, were arrested after the holdup and shootout at a physician's northeast Philadelphia residence.

Specter observed the death penalty "is on its way out." But he added, "The death penalty should be used in selective cases. This is not a new policy. It is an emphatically declared policy and it ought to be said in capital letters.

"As long as I'm district attorney, I'm going to demand the death penalty for anybody convicted in a case where a police officer was killed in the course of the crime."

Specter also said he views crimes where guns are used as different from all others. "People who carry guns have good reasons to know that somebody is going to get hurt or killed."

He said he was putting criminals on notice so that they "will think about what is going to happen to them if they carry a gun."

Specter said there are 263 homicide cases in Philadelphia awaiting trial and 110 defendants in them are free on bail.

Specter and Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo were critical of the policy of releasing homicide defendants on bail. Seeley was free on $15,000 bail in the death of another patrolman he said he found sleeping at the apartment of his estranged wife.

At that time Seeley was on parole from the Eastern State Correctional Institution. Seeley's arrest record goes back to 1953.

McIntire and Schwartz were both charged with murder and robbery and held without bail.

Warren Campus Faculty Member Earns Promotion

Wayne C. Joslyn, a member of the faculty at the Warren Campus of Edinboro State College, has been promoted to Assistant Professor of Science.

Joslyn teaches biology, physical science and astronomy at the Warren Campus. He will also be assigned to teach chemistry and physics, when these courses are included in the curriculum.

Professor Joslyn was graduated from Edinboro State College in 1962, with a bachelor of science degree in secondary education. In 1967 he earned his Master's degree from Edinboro, his concentration being in the biological sciences.

He attended Union College, in Schenectady, N.Y., on a National Science Foundation grant sequential. This culminated in the conferring of an M.S.T. degree with concentration in chemistry, in 1967. Joslyn also attended an in-service institute for Modern Physics, on a National Science Foundation grant in 1962 at Allegheny College, Meadville.

Joslyn taught chemistry and physics at Townville High School from 1962 to 1967. He joined the faculty of the Warren Campus of Edinboro State College in 1967.

He is a member of Alpha Chi Chapter of Beta Beta Beta honor society for the biological sciences; Pennsylvania State Education Association and National Education Association.

Joslyn is active as an advisor of the Warren Campus student PSEA.

He served in the armed forces in World War II in many capacities. He terminated his service with the rank of communications officer.

Wayne C. Joslyn and his wife Grace have two daughters. They at present reside at R. D. 5, Titusville.

Boy Escapes Jail By Bending Bars

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A 15-year-old boy who slept on the steps inside the Erie County Jail bent the bars in a jail window and escaped Friday.

The boy was one of nine persons who were arrested Wednesday and charged with committing 49 different crimes.

Warden Al Skonieczka said the boy was kept in the jail because his family did not want him at home and the county had no other place for him. He said the boy was not kept with the other prisoners and slept on the jail stairs.

Dist. Atty. William Pfadt said the boy, whose name was not released because of his age, climbed out of one of the jail windows. Pfadt said the youth had been charged with several armed robberies.

Beamon, Evans Set World Records While Ryun Captures Olympic Mile

By TED SMITH

Associated Press Sports Editor
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Spindly Bob Beamon soared an unbelievable 29 feet, 2 1/2 inches in the long jump and Lee Evans led a 1-2-3 American sweep in the 400 meter dash Friday at the troubled Olympic Games. Before the two Negroes smashed world records, the Olympic Village was shaken by the news that sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos had been thrown off the team for their racial symbolic actions at a medal ceremony Wednesday. The U.S. Olympic Committee said it had taken the drastic action against the two athletes after a threat by the International Olympic Committee to expel the entire U.S. team unless some steps were taken.

Sue Gossick of Tarzana, Calif., and Keala O'Sullivan of Honolulu, Hawaii, gave America a 1-3 finish in the women's 3 meter dive as U.S. swimmers continued their medal haul. The performances of Beamon, the Texas El Paso stringbean, and Evans of San Jose State made up for disappointing showings by three U.S. girls in the women's 200, won in a world record time of 22.5 seconds by Poland's Irena Kirszenstein. Earlier, Jim Ryun, the Kansas comet, successfully kicked off a bid to become the first American in 60 years to win the Olympic metric mile, and the American basketball team captured its 71st consecutive Olympic victory by beating Panama 95-60. Californian Bill Toomey, who had led the punishing decathlon competition after two events, dropped into second place behind East Germany's Joachim Kirst after the shot put. Kirst had 2,747 points to Toomey's 2,665. Beamon's amazing jump exceeded by almost two feet the world record of 27 1/2 feet shared by American Ralph Boston and Igor Ter Ovanesyan of Russia. The leap nearly carried him out of the pit and the crowd of 50,000 in the Olympic Stadium went hysterical in near disbelief. So did Beamon, the 6 foot-3, 160 pound New York native. He ran around excitedly, waving his hands, and then fell to his knees, overcome by emotion. The other athletes mobbed the 22 year old Beamon and he wept in joy. Boston, the 1960 gold medalist, put his arms around the youngster to steady him. Boston took the bronze medal with a leap of 26 9/16 behind Beamon and Klaus Beer of East Germany, who had a 26 10/16. Evans, rocked earlier in the day by the news of the suspensions of his teammates, Smith and Carlos, rebounded with a sensational 43.8, leading the first American medal sweep of the Games. Larry James of Villanova was second and Ron Freeman of Arizona State finished third. James was clocked in 43.9 and Freeman in 44.4 as all three Americans cracked the world record. Evans' time smashed the listed world record of 44.5 held by Smith and also wiped out a 44.0 pending mark set by Evans in the U.S. team trials. James almost caught Evans at the tape and Freeman was about two strides back. The race was so close at the finish that it took more than one half hour for the official result to be released. Miss Kirszenstein chopped two tenths of a second off her own world record as Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles, who had set an Olympic record of 22.8 in the semifinals, finished fourth in 22.9 and was never in contention. Australians Raelene Boyle and Jennifer Lamy finished second and third. Wyomia Tyus of Griffin, Ga., the winner of the 100 meter dash, led going into the home stretch but faded badly when the Polish champion put on a tremendous burst of speed. Miss Tyus finished sixth in 23.0 and Margaret Bailes of Eugene, Ore., was seventh in 23.1. Maureen Caird of Australia won the 80 meter hurdles in an Olympic record time of 10.3 seconds. Her time tied the world record set by Irina Press of Russia. There is a pending 10.2 for the event by Russia's Vera Korsakova. Pam Kilborn of Australia was second and Chi Chen of Taiwan finished third. Pat Van Wolvelaere of Renton, Wash., was fourth. Russia's Grigory Kosykh and West Germany's Heinz Mertel both set Olympic records with 562 points in the free pistol shooting, with Kosykh awarded the gold medal and Mertel the silver. Germany's Harald Vollmar took the bronze. Daniel Rebillard of France took the individual cycling pursuit gold in 4:41.71, with Morgen Frey Jensen of Denmark second and Xavier Kurmann of Switzerland third.

FROM THE SPORTS DESK

By DENNY BONAVITA

ERIE — Warren's role in the history of professional basketball was vividly brought to light again here Thursday evening as athletes, public figures and sports fans from all over the country gathered for a testimonial to Erie's Reno Strand. Though Strand is best known to Warren Countians of a generation ago as a standout center and forward on Gerry Archibald's 1934-1938 Hyvis Oil-Warren Penns teams of the then National Basketball League and Midwestern Conference, he has carved out a spot in the hearts of Erie's people through his work for that city's Boys' Club. An overflow crowd was on hand for the banquet, held in the Polish Falcons No. 610 Club on East 3rd Street. Celebrities on hand to speak at the affair included Duke Sims of the Cleveland Indians, Dick Schafrath of the Cleveland Browns, Red Cochrane, athletic director at Akron University, and Buddy Jeanette, a teammate of Strand's during his Warren days who subsequently enjoyed a long tenure with the National Basketball Association.

Strand, now a member of the Boys' Club board of trustees, enjoyed a career that included being an outstanding swimmer, basketball player, playing with the House of David, coaching basketball and track at Erie Strong Vincent high school, and a long association with the Boys' Club.

He and his family were toasted and Strand was presented with proclamations from the County of Erie, the School Board, and (testifying to the bitterness of the current political situation in Erie), separate citations from Mayor Lou Tullio and the Erie City Council, as well as a gigantic oil portrait, a plaque, and numerous gifts.

And the sentiment of the gathering was that he richly deserved all of them.

Jeanette, whose most recent jump into the headlines was during last month's contract hassle with the Baltimore Bullets, has many memories of the Warren area. And he took away one of his best—the former Bonnie Bidwell, now Mrs. Jeanette.

His difficulties with the Bullets stem from a contract dispute, and have resulted in Jeanette being out of sports for the moment. He's selling stocks in Baltimore now, and says he's considering getting back into the basketball picture next year. "But not as a coach," he stated. "I'm 51 now, and I prefer front office work to the strain of coaching."

He cited Warnie Check, Louie Check, Harry Lord and Archibald as people he particularly remembered during his Warren tenure.

Strand, during his remarks at the banquet, spoke highly of Archibald and his days in Warren, calling on Gerry to take a bow.

And with the characteristic modesty that has marked him all his days, he lauded the many friends and supporters who had worked with him, saying "this dinner should be for 50 or 100 guys, not just me."

Ebullient Red Cochrane was the fireball speaker of the night, mixing contemporary humor with reminiscences of coaching days with Strand in Erie. Butts of his wide-ranging humor included politicians, athletes and current college pastimes.

With a slight twang to his voice and a friendly, drawing style, Schafrath flavored the gathering with folksy anecdotes of his ballplaying days, even putting some humor into the Browns' current rather desperate status in the NFL race.

Sims, resplendent in a Nehru jacket and medallion-bedecked turtleneck, intimated that he may be trade bait as the Indians seek to improve their fortunes through winter deals.

Commenting on the Indians' past season, Sims stated he didn't think it was as bad a showing as some fans felt, since the Indians finished third. "We're one or two ballplayers away from being a contender," he noted. "But the loss of Tommy Harper and Chico Salmon will certainly hurt us. They're the types of ballplayers you have to have on each club."

Jeanette commented on the changes in the game of basketball since the '30s, when "our tall guys were lucky to touch the net, while today the dunk is commonplace."

He praised Strand for teaching him the coolness that comes with experience. "As a rookie in 1938, I'd run all over the court and come to the bench at halftime drenched with sweat; and there sat Reno, cool and relaxed, with every hair in place. He taught me that calmness under pressure that's so necessary to a ballplayer."

Ted Amendola and Jack Robison were co-chairmen for the affair, while ebullient Erie Times-News Sports Editor Gene Cuneo served as toastmaster.

Townville Drowns Youngsville

By DAVE PIRILLO

TOWNVILLE—A driving rain, swampy field, and a halfback by the name of Leroy Winans totaled up to a 22-0 win for the Townville Eagles over the Eagles of Youngsville here last night.

The all-important victory for the Valley Conference title-seeking Eagles put them in sole possession of first place as the Blue Devils of Cambridge Springs battled to a 0-0 draw with the Randolph-East Mead Rockets. The Eagle triumph pushed their record to 6-0 in conference play, and gave them a half-game lead over Cambridge.

The rainstorm that started before game time, continued through the entire contest. It resulted in a total yardage output of 70 yards for Youngsville while leading to a lost fumble, an interception, and a blocked punt.

All these factors in turn led to Townville scores.

The only grيدر who didn't seem to be bothered by the adverse conditions was All-Valley Conference halfback Winans. Winans managed to tread water for 110 yards on 11 carries for a ten-yard-per-trip average. His play also resulted in touchdowns of 54 and six yards.

Winans' performance last evening gave him 650 yards in six games and his touchdowns were his 15th and 16th for the year. And he still has a game remaining, with second-place Cambridge Springs.

Youngsville never really got started on a decent drive. They had an even 50 yards rushing while through the airways they were held to 20 yards.

STATISTICS	Youngsville

186 Yards Rushing	50
12 Yards Passing	20
9 Passes Attempted	11
3 Passes Completed	4

20 Yards Penalized	15
2 Fumbles Lost	2

Tom Burleigh was the Eagles' leading ground-gainer with 37 yards. Youngsville's loss was the third shutout for the hosts in their '68 campaign.

The first play after Youngsville fumbled midway through the first quarter, Winans rumbled around Youngsville's right end to spring loose on his 54-yard scoring launch.

Townville laid back until about four minutes left in the half to score the second TD. Winans capped a scoring drive with a six-yard bolt off right tackle. Doug Colwell's kick sailed over the bar and the visitors trailed by 13.

Just before the close of the half, Townville's front four blocked Chris Johnson's punt deep in his own territory. The ball rolled into the end zone and Tom Farrar squished down on the loose pigskin for a safety. The third period was a stalemate.

The fourth period would have been if Townville's Doug Peters hadn't picked off Burleigh's attempted pass and raced 35 yards to the visitors' 10. On a fourth down, Allan Dunbar bootlegged around the right side of the line and hit Bob Westfall with the final scoring pass. Colwell tacked on the extra point.

Next Saturday afternoon Youngsville, now 1-6, will close out the 1968 by playing host to Comeat Valley's Indians.

Miami Nips Va. Tech

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — David Olivo passed for a touchdown and Jim Huff kicked two field goals to give Miami a 13-8 victory over stubborn Virginia Tech Friday night.

Larry Kushner leaped over from one yard out with only two seconds remaining to give the Gobblers a touchdown and run their string to 27 games without a shutout.

Gil Schwabe passed to Dickie Longbeam for the two extra points for VPI.

Olivo passed to David Kalina for 10 yards and a touchdown in the first period after Huff had put Miami on the scoreboard with the first of two 27-yard field goals.

Virginia Tech had a flash of glory in the third period when Larry Creekmore intercepted Olivo's pass on the Tech 38 and, with an open field ahead, raced to the Miami five where Bobby Best cut him down.

Four plays later, Miami took over on the nine yard line and held off the Gobblers until the final minute.

Tech's touchdown drive started from the Hurricane 20, but after stalling, was forced to kick. It gained momentum again when Gobblie Perry Smooth recovered the VPI punt at the Miami 25.

Schwabe then passed to the Miami three. Kushner went over in two plunges.

CORRY—The McDowell Trojans drove through the mud for two scores and added a third on a long run by Jeff Davis to grind out a 20-0 victory over the Corry Beavers Friday night.

After struggling through a scoreless first period the Trojans broke the ice when Davis plunged over from the two to clinch a long drive. Davis carried again for the extra point to give McDowell a 7-0 lead.

Later the same period Davis broke loose for a 56 yard touchdown run. Doug Fabian added the PAT and McDowell carried a 14-0 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Midway through the third quarter the Trojans added the final score as Brooker dived in from the three.

PRO PICKS

NEW YORK (AP) — Every Brundage probably would cringe at just the mention, but the International Olympic Committee might want to consider adding pro football prognosticating to its calendar of events in Mexico City.

True, it's PRO prognosticating, but the way it's done around here, it's a purely amateur sport.

At least that's the way it looks after last week's miserable showing of six right and six wrong, and this weekend's schedule doesn't exactly soothe the savage selector.

So in an attempt to lose the amateur standing, here are the picks to be added to the season's 43-20 record. All games are Sunday.

AFL
Oakland 24, Kansas City 13—

Titusville Wins

TITUSVILLE — The Titusville Rockets put together a long touchdown drive in each of the first two periods and made them stand up as they took a 14-6 victory from the Meadville Bulldogs Friday night.

In the opening period the Rockets drove 86 yards for a score, with Craig Strawbridge carrying the last two yards. Gene McNamara kicked the extra point to give the Rockets a 7-0 lead.

Meadville got back into the game midway through the second period when Martin Davis burst straight up the middle and went 43 yards for a score. Davis failed, however, in an attempt to run in the extra point.

Later in the second period, McNamara put the finishing touches on a 65 yard drive by rolling into the end zone. McNamara again converted the extra point.

Neither team could successfully advance the ball during the second half as a driving rain forced both teams to play defensive football.

Titusville — 7 - 7 - 0 - 0 - 14
Meadville — 0 - 6 - 0 - 0 - 6

Titusville—Strawbridge, 2 run (McNamara kick)
Meadville—Davis, 43 run (run failed)
Titusville—McNamara, 13 run (McNamara kick)

Colts, Bills Favored On Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Every Brundage probably would cringe at just the mention, but the International Olympic Committee might want to consider adding pro football prognosticating to its calendar of events in Mexico City.

True, it's PRO prognosticating, but the way it's done around here, it's a purely amateur sport.

At least that's the way it looks after last week's miserable showing of six right and six wrong, and this weekend's schedule doesn't exactly soothe the savage selector.

So in an attempt to lose the amateur standing, here are the picks to be added to the season's 43-20 record. All games are Sunday.

AFL
Oakland 24, Kansas City 13—

Raiders still trying to figure out how to San Diego held Hewitt Dixon to 21 yards in 10 carries. It doesn't figure to happen twice in a row. Then, too, Chiefs' offense doesn't appear to be improving in potency.

New York 20, Houston 10—Houston intercepted Joe Namath six times in a game last year, and five teams have intercepted him 12 times this year, but that sort of thing can't go on forever.

San Diego 31, Denver 14—Chargers operating at top speed and ready to slow down charging Broncos, who have won two straight.

Buffalo 14, Boston 10—Bills still having quarterback troubles, and running back Ben Gregory out after knee surgery. Patriots' offense, on other hand, appears to have deteriorated just enough for Bills to overcome.

Miami 21, Cincinnati 14—Dolphins have a similar situation with fullback Larry Csonka out with concussion, but Bob Griese's passing should be just enough. Like the game above, though, could go the other way.

NFL
Los Angeles 31, Atlanta 7—Even if Rams are looking ahead to following week's showdown with Baltimore, they have too much for Falcons.

Dallas 35, Minnesota 17—Amateur Jim Hines assumed Bob Hayes' title of world's fastest human with Olympic 100-meter dash victory, but Hayes, not to mention the rest of the Cowboys, is still too fast for Vikings.

Baltimore 28, Cleveland 10—Johnny Unitas, who threw a touchdown pass in first appearance last week, gets in a little more time before Rams' visit.

Green Bay 14, Detroit 13—Bill Munson and Mel Farr hot, but Packers have to get serious and start winning or they'll watch title game on tv.

New York 31, San Francisco 28—Giants could be in trouble, though, if Fran Tarkenton doesn't overcome shoulder bruise.

St. Louis 28, Washington 21—Cardinals limited Leroy Kelly to five yards in 11 carries last week while offense showed improvement.

New Orleans 14, Pittsburgh 13—Steelers getting closer to first victory, but Saints rate bare edge.

Chicago 28, Philadelphia 21—Eagles, on the other hand, aren't getting closer to that first victory.

Steelers To Play Saints

PITTSBURGH (AP) — It could be that the half-time show will be more entertaining than the game when the Pittsburgh Steelers take on the New Orleans Saints Sunday in a National Football League game.

Al Hirt, a Salts' owner and top trumpet player, will team with Harold Betters, one of Pittsburgh's outstanding jazz artists, in the half-time festivities.

They plan to play several rousing Dixieland numbers, Hirt's blaring trumpet backed by Betters' smooth trombone.

In the game itself, Pittsburgh, 0-5, will be trying for its first victory, while New Orleans, 2-3, will be trying to improve on what is one of the best records for an expansion team at this stage of the season.

Pittsburgh said two regulars, flanker Roy Jefferson and offensive tackle Fran O'Brien, will miss the game because of a virus infection. Jon Henderson will replace Jefferson and Mike Taylor will fill in for O'Brien.

New Orleans is led by Don McCall, a tough, hard-hitting runner who shares the chore with Tony Loric, a former fullback with Baltimore.

Bill Kilmer, who has had 11 passes picked off, is the New Orleans quarterback. Kilmer's targets are flanker Dan Abramowitz and ends Monte Stickles and Dave Parks.

The Steelers say that Dick Shiner, who moved into the starting slot two weeks ago, will start at quarterback.

Sheffield Boosters Hold Regular Meet

Four Sheffield football coaches will attend a January 1969 clinic in Pittsburgh courtesy of the Sheffield Sports Boosters.

The Boosters held their meeting last Sunday, and elected Richard Moore president, Jack Haver vice-president, and Robert Olson, secretary-treasurer. Richard Grubbs and Bud Burlingame are new directors.

The next meeting is scheduled for November 17 at the Crescent club at 1 p.m.

Meadville Wins Section Cross-Country In Rain

MEADVILLE — The Meadville Bulldog cross-country team raced through a pouring rain to take first place in the Section Two cross-country meet here Friday afternoon. Oil City grabbed the second slot and Franklin edged out the Warren Harriers for third.

The Bulldogs, led by Al Forsika, who finished first with a time of 12:51 and Tom Fulton, who took second, picked up the first, second, eighth, eleventh, and thirteenth positions to score 37 points and easily win over the second place Oilers, who totaled 59.

Franklin registered 90 points, just barely beating out the Dragons, who scored 92. Larry

RECORDS OUT THE WINDOW

Dragons Meet Raiders

BY DENNY BONAVITA
Warren High is now 3-3 for the season, while Jamestown's record is 2-1-1.

Now throw those marks right out the window.

Sure, Warren is seeking a victory with a vengeance after seeing two games in a row slip through the Dragons' grasp in the last minutes of play; and Jamestown's players will be out to avenge last year's 40-0 trouncing by the Blue and White.

But the name of the opposition is motive enough in another chapter of this classic school-boy football rivalry that dates back to my grandfather's time and is studded with upsets, reversals of form and just plain good football.

Probable Starters

Jamestown	Warren
Colby	Mock
Spetz	Marchione
Peterson	Beckett
C. Mistretta	Dixon
Drake	Brenan
Jones	Colter or Phillips
Gaiser	Marti
Rizzo	Young
Howie	Tundel
Antonucci	Reynolds
F. Mistretta	Krumm

Warren enters the contest with a bolstered forward wall as tackle John Marchione returns to duty and Tim Colter, out for two weeks with a leg injury, is reported healthy enough for at least spot duty. Junior Jim Phillips, whose performance has improved every game, will alternate at the tackle spot.

The Dragons have been primarily a running team for the past three games, and Steve Tundel, Dan Reynolds and Dan Krumm are expected to fill this role taking quarterback Craig Young's handoffs. But this rivalry seldom fails to bring out at least one new wrinkle in the offense, and if the weather permits, Young's arm may rise to pass more often than in past contests.

Jamestown too can be counted on for at least one surprise, and indications are that the Raiders count on the passing combine of quarterback Carl Rizzo and left end Jim Colby heavily. Colby, a cross-country star last year, is expected to give Warren's defensive secondary some worrisome moments.

Game time is set for 1:30, with tickets available at the gate.

Eisenhower To Meet Cassadaga

By DANNY PRATZ

The odds will be pretty even between the Eisenhower Knights and Cassadaga Valley Cougars today as the Ike squad travels to Cougar country. Cassadaga fields perhaps one of the youngest squads Coach Joe Anarella has seen in his fifteen years of coaching at the New York State school.

Anarella's forces include only three lettermen, two offensive and one defensive. Furthermore, one offensive letterman, fullback Jack Skinner was injured in Cassadaga's game with Westfield and has been unable to play since.

The soul offensive letterman on the starting lineup for the Cougars will be Ray Attleberger. Attleberger now runs the fullback spot and does the bulk of the ball carrying for Cassadaga.

Steve Wickmark, last year's defensive letterman, will call the signals for the Cougars. The Wickmark family has an outstanding record of athletes and junior QB Steve is no exception.

However the entire Red and Blue line are rather new at Anarella's multiple offense.

The Cougars run a rather tricky offense which includes a T, I, single wing, double wing, and anything else Coach Anarella can get yardage with.

The Knights should be strong today with what would be called the "regular" lineup starting the game.

The Blue and Gold wall will once more be packed with plenty of Knight meat, Charlie Sanders will be the "big" man in the center with Paul Cathcart and Randy Voty providing the strength at guarding the Knight ball.

Harry Wilkins and Dave Brown will be the men after Cougars trying to crash the line at the tackle spots. Bernie Uber and Wayne Lundmark spark the poles of the Ike attack for any aerial game attempt.

The Eisenhower backfield will include Jamie Nesmith at Quarterback, Bart Lohnes at right halfback, Gary Dalrymple at left halfback and Dana Beyerler at the fullback spot. Beyerler proved to be a real ballcarrier in Ike's game with Westfield last week as he gutted out many yards.

Cassadaga holds a 2-2 record this year which happens to be more losses than the Cougars have had in the last two football seasons. The Knights now carry a 1-2-1 slate with a 1-1-1 reading in the Valley Conference.

Today's game is scheduled to get underway at 1:30 on the Cassadaga school field in Sinclairville.

Starting lineups for today's game will be as follows:

EISENHOWER	CASSADAGA
Uber	Deunk
Wilkins	Brunson
Cathcart	Diers
Sanders	Kelley
Voty	Carlson
Brown	Segerlin
Lundmark	Goll
Dalrymple	Jordan
Nesmith	Wickmark
Lohnes	Kelley
Beyerler	Attleberger

Ohio State Seeks Top Poll Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio State's Buckeyes, bucking to topple Southern California from the No. 1 spot in major college football, try to add to their reputation Saturday against Northwestern—the No. 1 foil for the nation's leading teams.

The Buckeyes of Woody Hayes, led by sophomore quarterback Rex Kern, will be without the services of injured halfback John Brockington but should be able to easily handle the worn and weary Wildcats, who have lost all four of their games.

On successive Saturdays, Northwestern has been paired against an imposing line-up of the country's top teams, losing to Miami, Fla., No. 12 in this week's Associated Press poll; top-ranked Southern California; Purdue, at that time, No. 1, and Notre Dame, sixth this week.

While Ohio State will be seeking to enhance its prestige, USC and O. J. Simpson will be looking to make it five straight against Washington. It's supposed to be an easy one for the Trojans, but so was last week's against Stanford and USC had to struggle for a 27-24 victory.

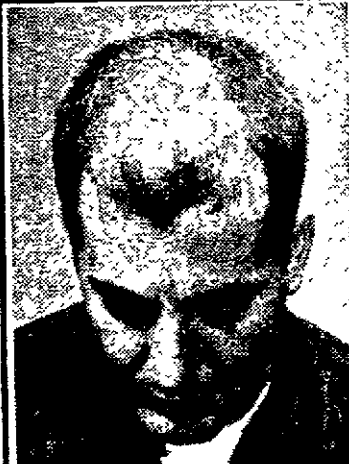

All the other members of the Top Ten also will be in action with the exception of No. 3 Penn State, idle this week before continuing next week against Boston College.

Boosters Meet At Eisenhower

Plans are rolling along as Eisenhower High's Booster Club is fast becoming a reality. A six-man board of directors is now engaged in setting up a schedule of meetings and projects.

The Boosters have scheduled a full meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 29, at Eisenhower High School, and plans are for the football coaches to be on hand and game films will also be shown. The meeting will be open to the public.

NEW TREATMENT FOR HAIR LOSS

Frank Moran Shows He ReGrew Hair.

He Did Not Have Male Pattern Baldness.
ERICKSON HAIR CONSULTANT WILL EXPLAIN HAIR PROBLEMS FREE AT The Penn-Laurel Motel, 706 Pa. Ave., W. Warren, Pa., Sunday, Oct. 20, 1968 HOURS 1 P.M. to 8:30 P.M.

Chicago, Ill., October 19, 1968. Now is the time to act on this great opportunity. Every hair-worried person (man or woman) should take advantage of this FREE CONSULTATION. Many users have reported not only stopping their hair from thinning...but are really growing more hair.

GUARANTEED
You will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from the beginning to the end. Naturally we could not give you such a guarantee if it didn't work.

CAN'T HELP
Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. Erickson's Hair Specialists cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of your hair loss. Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair...now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

FREE CONSULTATION
Just take a few minutes of your time on Sunday, October 20, 1968, and go to the Penn-Laurel Motel, 706 Pa. Ave., W. in Warren, Pa., between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the Desk Clerk for A. Gibson's room number.

There is no charge or obligation...all consultations are complimentary. You will not be embarrassed in any way.

COVER

"May the Lord in infinite mercy abundantly bless this little church and let it ever stand as a shining light and pure emblem of the invisible Church on High. May it be abundantly useful in reviving His work in the hearts of his own people and in bringing many precious souls to a right knowledge of the only true God and the Lord Jesus Christ." . . . Mrs. William Armstrong Irvine. See photo feature story in this section.

SOCIAL Wanderings

by Marion Honhart

THANKSGIVING AND CHRISTMAS BAZAAR preparations are progressing rapidly under the nimble fingers and clever planning of Sugar Grove's Ladies of the United Presbyterian Woman's Association . . . . They're making homemade candles, Christmas decorations, all kinds of little gifts; a great amount of home canned goods; aprons; knitted baby clothes, mittens and socks. There will also be, fresh homebaked goods on both days of the bazaar (Friday and Saturday, November 22nd and 23rd), candy, and an assortment of garden products. A special added attraction has been planned for the children. Mrs. Victor Spattifor, Mrs. Robert Carlson, Mrs. Russell Forsgren, Mrs. John Stuart, and Mrs. Clyde Arthur Jr. are serving on committee for the event . . . . Any questions, ideas, or donations for the bazaar, just contact any one of them. It will be held in the vacant store next to Sprandies.

WARREN CIVIC ORCHESTRA has been putting its talented members to work preparing for the first concert of this season . . . . Sunday, November 17, at 3 o'clock in Warren Area High School auditorium . . . . and, at the same time, many of its members are performing with the orchestra which is providing the accompaniment for Gilbert & Sullivan's "The Pirates Of Penzance" to be given by the Players Club this Friday and Saturday at the Woman's Club at 8:30 p. m. Mrs. Joseph DeFrees wants the members of the Warren Civic Orchestra to know there will be no rehearsal this coming Wednesday, the 23rd, but, full orchestra rehearsals are to be resumed on the following Wednesday, October 30th.

A GIRL SCOUT MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS TUREEN is being held this coming Tuesday evening, October 22nd, at 6:30 in the St. Paul Center at Saybrook . . . . It is for all Senior Cadets, Juniors and Brownies of the Sheffield Girl Scouts and their moms . . . . Each troop has planned its own transportation, and each Scout will bring her planned tureen and table service. The co-chairmen for the dinner, Mrs. John Cashmere and Mrs. Dean Lewis, have also planned a special program for the evening.

MINIATURES: The regular monthly meeting of Allegheny-Valley TPG will be held Monday evening at Washington School. Classroom visitation at 7:30 will be followed by the 8 o'clock business meeting. Richard Brown, director of the Office of Economics Opportunity for this county, will be the speaker.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son went with a dumbbell for two years. He is 20. She is now 17.

Eight months ago he wanted to marry this empty-headed, giggly thing. In fact, he had made a down payment on a ring. When he told me about the ring I tried to keep calm and in a nice way talk him out of it. When I saw it was hopeless, I said, "All right, Allen, some kids get married young -- no job, no money, no education -- and through some miracle it does work. Good luck." His face brightened up. Then I added, "But you are NOT living in this house." His smile disappeared and his eyes bugged out.

Three days later Allen asked me what he ought to do about the ring. He said he wasn't sure he could handle rent and groceries "and all that." I told him it would be the best down payment he ever lost. He didn't answer.

This morning Allen told me he let the ring go because after all, "I have the Army, my education and some growing up to do before I get married."

If I had let him move that dingaling into my house they would have been married by now. Pass the word, Ann. Sometimes a little strategy can go a long way. — RELIEVED

DEAR RE: Bravo! What some mothers can't get through their heads is this: — Kids, even BIG ones, do a lot of testing. And they don't always want everything they ask for. The roadblock you threw in your son's way gave him the "out" he was looking for.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If this didn't happen to me I would not have believed it. My husband is about 40 pounds overweight. I have been begging Herman for five years to go on a diet. He said he would when he felt like it. Two months ago when his best friend who was also 40 pounds overweight keeled over from a heart attack, Herman decided he felt like it.

We went to a doctor together and he gave Herman a diet --1800 calories a day and no beer.

We have four children and it's not easy to cook special dishes for one member of the family. I broke my neck to prepare exactly what Herman should have, thinking it was the least I could do to contribute to a longer life for the father of my children.

Yesterday at noon I ran into Herman at his favorite delicatessen. I caught him in the middle of a corned beef sandwich. There was potato salad on his plate and a stein of beer at his right. He said, "The diet the doctor gave me is supposed to be BETWEEN MEAL snacks. No person could be expected to live on THAT."

When I phoned the doctor to tell him what Herman had said, he told me that Herman should find another doctor -- preferably a psychiatrist. What do you think about a situation like this? — FLABBERGASTED

November Wedding Date Is Chosen

SANDRA GERN

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall L. Gern of 147 Crestview Blvd. announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to Greg L. Hogue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hogue of 40 Highland drive, Bradford. A November 30th wedding is being planned.

Miss Gern is a 1967 graduate of Warren Area High School and is now employed at Dorcon, Inc. Her fiancé is a 1968 graduate of Bradford Area High School and is now employed by Market Basket in Bradford.

Miss Patricia Mooney, a graduate student at Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York, was special guest soprano soloist at the President's Day program of the Philomel Club on Wednesday afternoon. Accompanied at the piano by Miss Sharon Cuthbertson, a senior at Eastman School of Music, Miss Mooney presented the following program:

Cara sposa from "Rinaldo" . . . . Handel; Voi, che sapete from "Le Nozze di Figaro" . . . . Mozart; Der Gang zum Liebchen. . . . Brahms; Immer leiser wird Schlummer. . . . Brahms; Vergebliches Standchen. . . . Brahms; Meine Liebe ist Grün. . . . Brahms; Such Beauty as Hurts to Behold. . . . Ned Rorem; Rain in Spring. . . . Ned Rorem; O, You Whom I Often and Silently Come. . . . Ned Rorem; The Lordly Hudson . . . . Ned Rorem.

As an encore, she sang "Habenera" from "Carmen" by Bizet.

A native of Raleigh, North Carolina, Miss Mooney was graduated 1st year from Converse College, Spartansburg, South Carolina, and this year, a student of Miss Josephine Antoine at Eastman, she is studying for the degree of Master of Music in Performance and Literature. She has performed in five operatic roles at Converse College and with the Brevard Opera Co. in North Carolina. She was soloist with the North Carolina Symphony, touring the southeastern states. At present she is studying the part of Marie in "Bartered Bride" by Smetana in the Eastman Opera Department.

Miss Cuthbertson of Denver, Colorado, is a senior in Applied Organ at Eastman. She has studied Accompanying with Brook Smith. At present she is a student of organ with David Craighead and is a music coach, working with Edwin McArthur in the Opera Department.

Traditionally -- unannounced, the program for this particular day each year is a complete surprise to the membership and is an outstanding event deemed as a highlight of the entire year.

About 90 Philomel Club members assembled in the Woman's Club to open the seventy-seventh season as a club and to honor their president, Mrs. Charles Eaton, who has begun her second year in that office.

In opening the meeting, Mrs. Eaton expressed her appreciation for her corsage of yellow roses, a gift of the membership in recognition of President's Day.

She then extended a hearty welcome to all members and guests present including the Junior Philomel and Little Bach Society. New members included Mrs. John Carey, Miss Charlotte Erickson, Mrs. John Kettis, Mrs. Al Rasmussen, Mrs. Gilbert Reier, Mrs. Charles Shortt, Mrs. Robert Underhill, and Mrs. E. H. Watkins and Miss Winifred Woods of Kane.

For the social hour which followed the program, Mrs. J. B. Leidig was hostess chairman. Her committee included officers of the club. Mrs. John Wendell and Mrs. Fred Martin presided at the tea table centered with a centerpiece of fall flowers in yellow and bronze shades and artificial blue grapes in a brass bowl, flanked with green candles in brass candelabra.

DEAR FLAB: I think the doctor gave you good advice. I hope you can get Herman to take it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's parents feel they should have free access to our home at all times. Since they live near us, they are in and out as often as four times a day. Sometimes I don't even know anyone is in the house until I run into one of my in-laws in the bathroom or the kitchen. It's a frightening experience and happens quite regularly.

Recently I suggested that they should knock or use the bell. I was clobbered unmercifully by my husband. He informed me that his parents are not guests and that I had insulted them.

Am I wrong? If not, what is the solution?--NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Anyone who leaves doors open these days is lucky if he gets nothing worse than unwelcome in-laws. Even small towners who boasted not many years ago, "Nobody ever locks their doors here," have begun to use keys and safety chains. So lock up, Woman. Tell your husband times have changed.

Executive Of Penna. Synod At 1st Presbyterian, Sunday

The Rev. Dr. William G. Rusch, executive of the Synod of Pennsylvania, will preach tomorrow at the morning service in First Presbyterian Church. His topic will be "The Proof Of Our Faith."

Dr. Rusch, a native of Dunkirk, N. Y., who served as a Second Lieutenant B-24 navigator in the South Pacific with the Fifth Air Force, at the end of WW II became a Rescue Boat Skipper and later Operations Officer of a Rescue Boat Unit in Japan. He completed his college studies at Washington & Jefferson after the war, graduating with a Bachelor of Arts degree, Magna Cum Laude, and being elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In June 1950 he received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Western Theological Seminary and, his Masters degree in Education from the University of Pittsburgh in August of that year. The same university awarded him his Doctor of Philosophy degree in 1958.

Other credits in his background include: Pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church in Tarentum; first pastor of the newly organized Hamilton Presbyterian Church in South Hills, Pittsburgh, where his congregation grew from 90 to 500 members, and a church building and manse were built; pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Washington, Pa., and after its merger with the Third Presbyterian Church forming the Church of the Covenant in 1960, becoming the first pastor of the new congregation. During his 14-year pastorate in Washington, more than 1400 new members were received into the church.

Dr. Rusch has served as moderator of Washington Presbytery; chairman of its General Council; chairman of its committees on Ministerial Relations, national missions, strategy, General Presbyter, and Presbytery Council of the United Presbyterian Men; on the boards of trustees, and Committees of Christian Education and Bills and Overtures; chairman of the Pittsburgh Presbytery Committee on Records, History and Judicial Business.

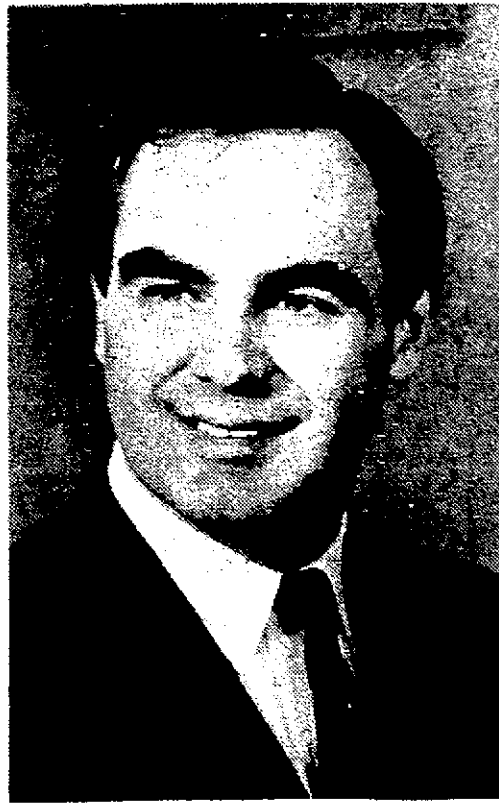

From 1960 to 1966 he was chairman of the Christian Education Committee of the Synod of Pennsylvania and chairman of the Department of Higher Education. He served on the Presbytery Boundaries Committee, and with the Synod Committees of National Missions and Ministerial Relations. He also was president of the board of directors of the Synod Leadership Training School from 1962 to 1963. 1964 found him serving on the General Assembly on its Commission on Capital Needs.

Episcopal Church of Erie and Key man in the Episcopal Church of Erie. He will speak on the topic, "Who Are You and Where Are You Going?"

Leading the service will be Frank Flood Jr., Lay Leader; Dorman Swanson and Charles Sly.

Mr. Keely and his wife, Mary Jane, have a married daughter, Mrs. Janice Lambert, in Connecticut, a son, George Eric, who is a commercial artist, and a younger daughter, Linda Jane, a student at Waynesburg College.

For the prelude, J. Richard Pratt, organist, and Mrs. Laurel Whitmore, violinist, will play "Largo" by Handel and for the postlude, Mr. Pratt will play "Grand Choeur" by Boely. Kenneth Foreman and Earl Ericson will sing "The Beautiful City" by Wilson and Mr. Ericson will direct the Senior Choir anthem, "Spirit of Life" by Dressler.

DR. WILLIAM G. RUSCH

The sermons of Dr. Rusch were broadcast weekly for over thirteen years, and have been printed in two national magazines; he is one of the authors of "The Incomparable Snowden."

His honors include being elected a life member of the board of trustees of Washington and Jefferson College. His interests and activities have not been confined to those of the church, but he has provided leadership for a number of community affairs, serving as president of the board of directors of the Washington County United Fund in 1962; chairman of the Washington Youth Commission appointed by the mayor with authority from the Juvenile Court; he was chairman of the "Big Brother" program and was on the Washington School Board.

On January 1, 1968, he began his duties as executive of the Synod of Pennsylvania, numerically the largest Synod in the United Presbyterian Church. And, in June of this year he was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Divinity degree by Grove City College.

He and Mrs. Rusch, the former Ruth Jeannette Johnson, are the parents of four children, Carolyn, 19; Betsy, 18; Kathy, 15 and Paul 13. He and his family traveled for eleven weeks in Europe, six of those weeks he served as the exchange pastor of the John Knox Presbyterian Church in Aberdeen, Scotland.

P-SCSG Ready For Fall Fashion Show

The October 24 style show "Fall Put-Up of Fashion" is now planned down to the last detail by the Pre-School Child Study Group, sponsors of the show to be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall at 8 that night. The group met at the home of Mrs. Robert Larson, 14 Central avenue, on Monday evening. Tickets are available from all club members, from Morrison's and the Infanteen Shop.

The annual children's Halloween party is to be held on Wednesday, October 30, at Meadowbrook Dairy social rooms from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. it was announced.

The program for the meeting on Monday evening was an explanation of the different types of knitting and yarns by Mrs. Eugene Swinarski of Lee's Yarn Shop in Youngsville. The speaker gave the group an electric blanket to be used as a door prize. It was won by Mrs. William Bevevino.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Darrell Johnson, chairman; Mrs. David Hendrickson and Mrs. Dennis Sealey.

The next meeting will be held on Nov. 13, at the home of Mrs. Angelo Ditonto, 8 Bauer st., Warren.

Betrothed

JUDITH ANN MORRISON

Announcement is made today of the engagement of Judith Ann Morrison of Titusville and Charles E. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alic Porter of R. D. 1, Titusville.

Miss Morrison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Morrison of 1411 Pennsylvania Avenue West, former residents of R. D. 2, Tidioute, and is a former employee of Radio Station WNAE. She graduated in 1965 from Tidioute High School, attended Erie Business Center, and is employed as copywriter by Radio Station WTIV in Titusville.

Mr. Porter is a 1960 graduate of Titusville High School. He has served three years with the U.S. Army, including a tour of duty in Vietnam. He is currently employed by Universal Cyclops in Titusville.

No date has been set for the wedding.

St. John's Collecting Clothes

The families of the congregation are reminded that October 28 is the deadline for usable clothing to be gathered. Needed especially are clothing for children and blankets for refugees overseas.

The adult membership class, now in progress, is studying the history of the Christian Church, its background, theology, worship, and practice, and with the Lutheran branch in particular.

The ten-week course is open to any inquirer into the Christian faith, with no obligation to membership.

Next Session of the class will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Guest Pastor Speaker On Opening Day Of Conference

REV. ROBERT W. ANDERSON

"To Know Christ And To Make Him Known" is the theme of Bethlehem Covenant Church's Sixth Annual Missionary Conference which begins tomorrow, Sunday, October 20.

At the 11 a.m. Service, the Rev. Robert W. Anderson, pastor of First Covenant Church of Jamestown, New York, will be preaching. His topic will be "The Power Of A New Affection." Rev. Anderson pastored Covenant Churches in Salem, South Dakota; South Bend, Indiana, and Fresno, California, before coming to Jamestown in September 1966.

At the 7 p.m. service the new missionary film entitled "My Witnesses... In This World" will be shown. Produced by the Johnson-Nyquist Production Company of Northridge, California, this 35-minute sound color film takes its audience to Congo, Ecuador, Hong Kong, Japan, Taiwan, and to the state of Alaska, where the Evangelical Covenant Church conducts missionary work.

In the film will be seen missionaries coming to grips with problems confronting them as they seek to present the gospel to the modern world. Working side by side with the missionaries are national Christians who are also prominent in the film.

The emphasis on youth and particularly the testimony of young people who have served abroad in a peace corps type of short-term missionary service make the production appealing to young people.

Bethlehem Covenant Church is located at 210 Market Street in Warren. The Pastor of the church, the Reverend Alan F. Hearl, cordially invites all of the community to these special services.

Wedding Next Spring

Mr. and Mrs. John Condio of Clarendon announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Pauline, to Kraig B. Werlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Werlin of Hackney Meadows, Warren.

The bride-to-be, a 1964 graduate of Warren Area High School, attended Kent State University and is presently employed at Warren Public Library. Her fiancé is a 1959 graduate of Warren High School and is employed at Starbrick Motors. A spring wedding is being planned.

Missionary Speaks At Wesleyan Church Tomorrow

The Rev. James H. Walker, representative of Bible Literature International, (formerly Bible Meditation League) will be the missionary speaker at Wesleyan Church tomorrow at 11 a.m., the pastor Rev. R. S. Humphries, has announced.

Bible Literature International was a pioneer among literature organizations. Founded in 1923 in Columbus, Ohio, as a local group dedicated to the distribution of Bible literature, it moves steadily forward today as one of the world's largest evangelical missionary literature ministries. Now supplying missionaries in 121 nations, and chaplains in the Armed Forces, materials distributed include Bible portions as well as tracts, correspondence courses and magazines. Its Heart Of Pak booklet, now in eighty languages, is found on every continent. Bible Literature International is a vital link between the local church and missionaries around the world.

Mr. Walker entered the missionary service in 1952 on the Texas-Mexican Border where he worked with congregations on both sides of the Rio Grande River. It was here that he first realized the tremendous power of the printed page. This knowledge was carried into the pastorate where he served for several years until his appointment as the area representative for Bible Literature International.

The public is invited to this service which will include a special report on Vietnam!

Russell Aux. Meets Tomorrow

The Russell VFD Auxiliary is holding its regular meeting on Wednesday, October 23, at 8 p.m. The highlight of the evening will be a Halloween party and members are asked to attend in costume.

After the meeting and party, members will prepare for the rummage sale which is to be held on October 25 and 26. Anyone with articles for the sale to be picked up call Mrs. Frank Fry at 757-8819, or Mrs. Ronald Wilkins at 757-9944.

FALL FASHION NEWS

Pictured here is one of the many fetching and very feminine ensembles that are fashion news this fall. This three-piece knit suit with belted skirt, has a casual but elegant air, correct for all day, and dining out in the evening. Its femininity is emphasized with the frilly blouse and peeping cuffs. Notice the two leathers used in complementing the outfit, black patent pumps, and dull calf skin for the bag.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR FOLKS:

With so many items on the market now made of the new fur-like fabrics, I thought you'd all be interested in a bit of information that I received from the National Institute of Laundering concerning the cleaning of these fabrics.

(But, gals, I must CAUTION you. Be sure the label says "washable," and not "DRY CLEAN ONLY." Some material cannot be washed. So read the label carefully.)

Now, here's the info:

"Most of the fur-like fabrics are washable, providing ALL components are also washable.

"Fortunately, fur-like fabrics release soil quite readily, hence do not require a great deal of washing action.

"Wash white items separately from colored to prevent color transfer. Also, separate the deeper shades from the pastels for best results.

"The most successful method in washing these fabrics includes a slow-speed washer and a high water level. Items should not be netted, but allowed to move freely in the washing solution. Extraction (spinning dry) should be kept to a MINIMUM. Bring the extractor to speed and IMMEDIATELY STOP it. Water should be no hotter than 95 degrees F.

"Some of the fur-like fabrics need brushing after washing to restore the pile which may have matted. And this brushing should be done with a very stiff bristle brush WHILE THE FABRIC IS WET. This is most important.

"If pile is allowed to dry, brushing will be difficult and usually impossible. But if the fabric had dried before the pile is brushed, re-wet before trying to restore it.

"DO NOT TUMBLE-DRY fur-like fabrics. Some can be fluffed in a COLD tumbler, but unless you are certain that the item can be handled this way, it is advisable not to tumble because the pile or backing could be damaged beyond repair.

"Permit them to dry at room temperature." (That means NOT out in the sun on your clothesline, gals!)

Our thanks to the Laundering Institute for their excellent advice and help in caring for these luxurious fabrics that we find now in wearing apparel and household items such as throw rugs, bath sets, etc.

Aren't they oh, sooooo soft and heavenly feeling? And now we can enjoy them more by knowing how to care for them.

Irvine Church Marks Milestone Sunday

By DAVE KNIGHT

Irvine Presbyterian Church marks a milestone in its history Sunday with the dedication of a new $27,000 educational building.

The modest two-story structure constructed with funds raised through donation and pledges by the church parishioners also serves as an all purpose building with facilities not only for christian education and church group meetings, but for community groups such as Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts as well.

Construction of the new building, designed by architect Jeremy Fisher, and built to specification by the Artico Construction Co., Youngsville, began in late 1967. The building was completed early this year, and has been in use since spring.

The new building contrasts with the original Irvine Church built some 130 years ago. The original church, quaint, rustic, remains today nearly unchanged. In recent years the Department of Interior has recorded it in the Library of Congress as having both historic and architectural qualities.

The Irvine Story — the story of Dr. William Armstrong Irvine and particularly his wife, Sarah Duncan, who first settled in the Irvine area, is known to many local residents.

The story of how young Mrs. Irvine rode through the hills and valleys holding prayer meetings spreading christian love and spirit; her interest in the natives of the area, Indians as well as white neighbors.

The story of Dr. William Irvine, who wishing to help his wife carry out her work, decided to build a place of worship which shortly after completion became the Irvine Presbyterian Church.

The church has held services continually since January 15, 1844, when first constituted under the Presbytery of Erie (Synod), Pa.

Many persons have entered its doors — some probably curiosity seekers, but most of them to worship in the simple quiet of the one room. The first lights of the church were candles. Today for Christmas programs and other special services, candles are still used to add serenity and beauty to the occasion.

The addition of electricity for lighting constitutes about the only change made in the old church through its many years of service.

One of the more interesting and unique items in the church is the pews. These were hand made, and several of them are reversible. During group meetings, such as Sunday school, the pews can be swung to a reverse position allowing two rows of people to face each other.

Although the present membership of the church is 71 the church has ample seating for about 90 persons. For church services the building is adequate, however, for Sunday School classes and group meetings the one-room design of the structure created many problems.

It was for this reason a few years ago the congregation decided to continue on with the service of the church to the community and start planning additional facilities.

After a plan was decided on, the old manse was removed and the simple two-story building, which stands just east of the present church was constructed.

NEW STRUCTURE

In Contrast with the rustic appearance of the old church, the modest new two story structure will provide the much needed additional facilities for Christian education, as well as meeting facilities for community groups.

ties for Christian education, as well as meeting facilities for community groups.

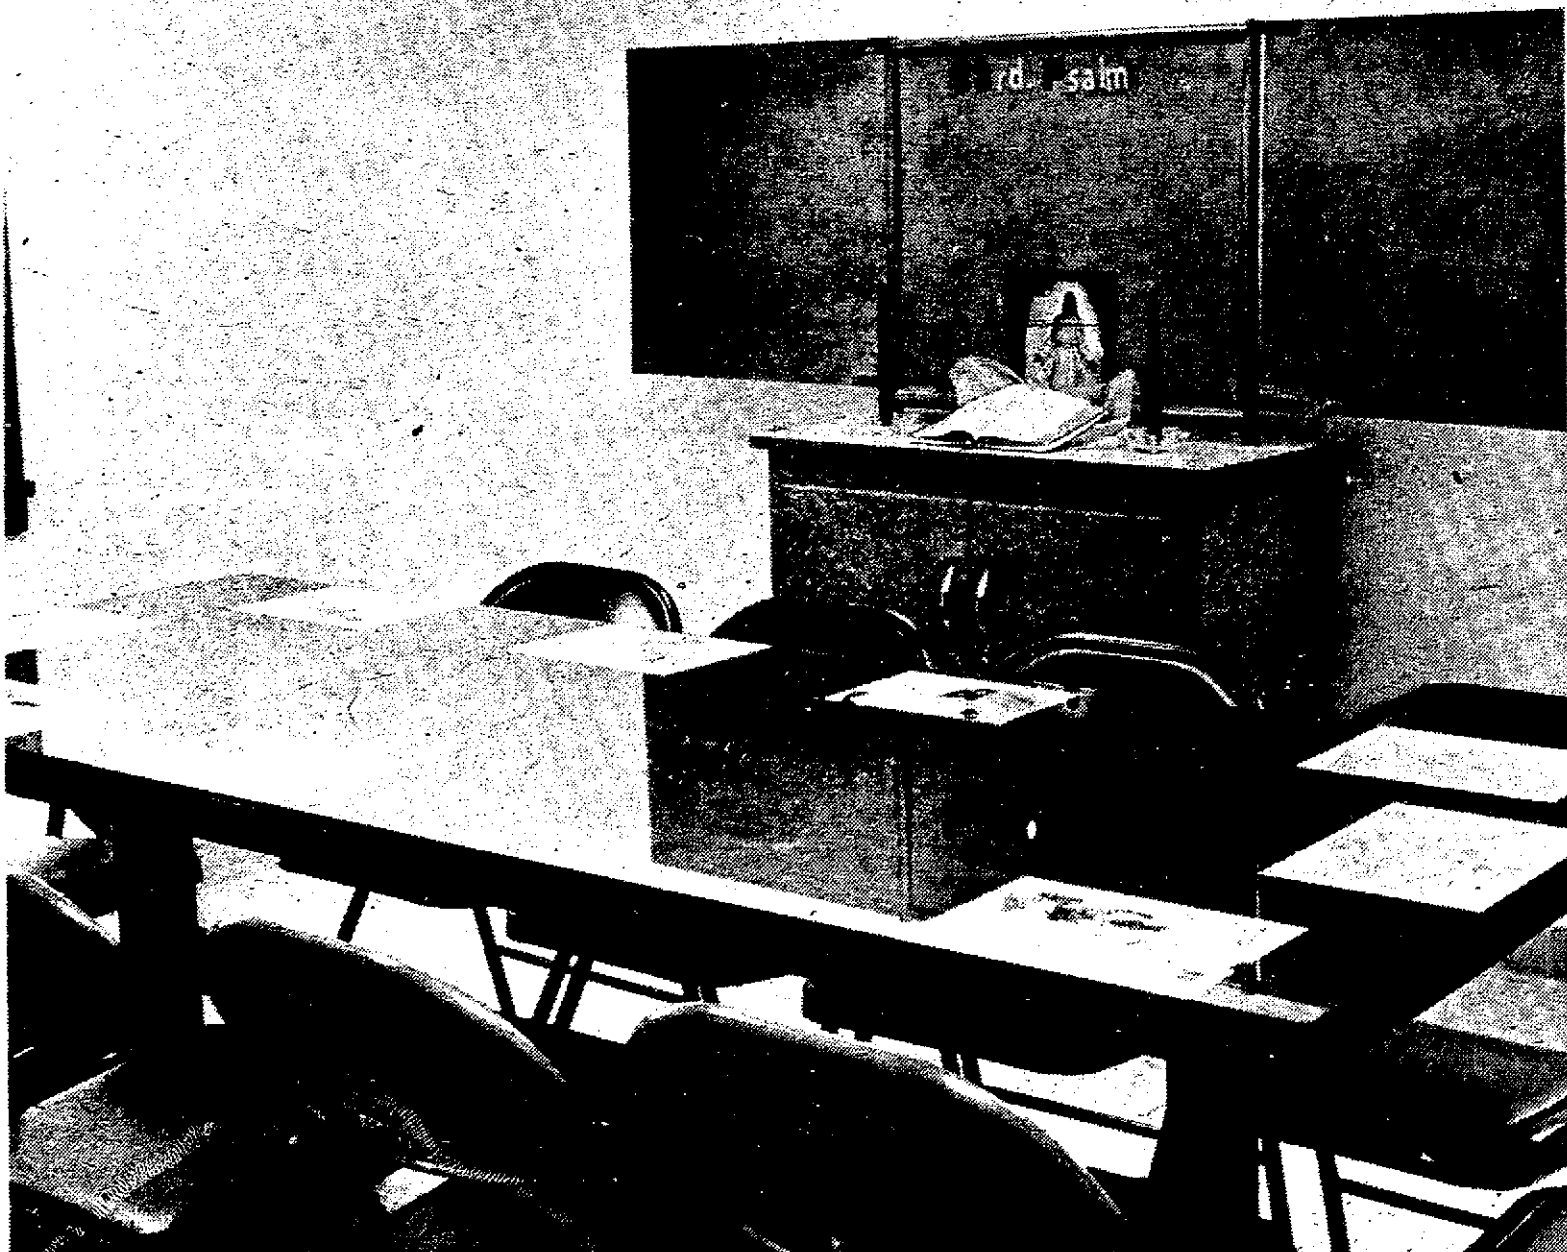

Dedication ceremonies for the new educational building will be conducted at 3 p. m. Sunday, with the Rev. Nelson Horne, former pastor of the Irvine-Tidioute United Presbyterian Church, delivering the dedicatory address. The Rev. Horne is presently the pastor of the Port Allegany United Presbyterian Church, and Moderator of the Presbytery of Lake Erie.

Others expected to attend and participate in the ceremony are the Rev. William A. Parsons, General Presbyter of Lake Erie Presbytery; the Rev. Frank Churchill, assistant pastor of First United Presbyterian Church, Warren; and the Rev.

Robert L. Zorn, present pastor of the Irvine-Tidioute United Presbyterian Church.

Following dedication ceremonies visitors are invited to tour the new facilities. Refreshments will be served.

MEETING ROOMS

Meeting rooms for adult Sunday School classes are designed and decorated to play a dual role. This room serves as both an adult Sunday School class room and a board room where church officials may conduct the business of the church.

UNCHANGED

The little one-room church remains today nearly unchanged. Electricity has been installed, but the furnishings and general appearance of the church are the same as when it was originally constructed over 130 years ago.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ROOM

Sunday School rooms decorated to delight the children are provided in the new structure.

BASEMENT

The basement of the new structure is a large all purpose room where community groups as well as church groups can conduct meetings. To the right of the all purpose room is a small kitchenette for the preparation of refreshments.

WARREN HUMPHREY BOOSTER

Prof. and Mrs. F. Earl Ward, 1235 E. 5th ave., Warren, long-time friends of Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, treasure their collection of Christmas cards received from the Humphreys over the years since Humphrey and Ward were colleagues on the faculty of Macalester College in St. Paul. (Photo by Hoff)

Warren Couple Old Friends of Humphreys

BY FRANKLIN R. HOFF

Among the most enthusiastic supporters of Hubert Humphrey in his campaign for the presidency are Professor and Mrs. F. Earl Ward, 1235 East Fifth ave., long time friends of the Vice President and Mrs. Humphrey.

Their friendship extends to the days when Humphrey was a colleague on the faculty of Macalester College in St. Paul, Minnesota. Humphrey taught political science, while Ward was in the English department.

According to Ward, Humphrey was teaching at Macalester in between his campaigns for election as Mayor of Minneapolis. He served with distinction in this office, and this was the beginning of his rise to higher office, which sent him to the Senate of the United States and the Vice Presidency.

"Hubert Humphrey is a very charming and witty person," recalls Mrs. Ward. "He loved to dance, and he'd say, 'Ruth, let's cut a rug!'—the current phrase in those days. He was an excellent dancer, and a good friend."

No matter how high Hubert Humphrey rose in politics, the Wards report, he never forgot his many friends. Each year they looked forward to the Humphreys' family Christmas card, while the children were still at home. In later years the Humphreys have continued not only to remember the Wards and other friends at Christmas time, but not infrequently drop short notes, indicating that, although their duties keep them busy, they want to keep in touch.

Humphrey was most popular with the students at Macalester College, his interest in and regard for people is legendary. He is one of the few men in public life with a deep compassion for the underprivileged.

The Wards cite with relish a typical example of Humphrey's warm friendship. After he became Senator, he was in Minneapolis at the Radison Hotel, where he was host at a luncheon. When he discovered that about 300 friends of Max Karl, a mutual friend and former colleague on the Macalester faculty and alumnus of that college, were tendering Karl a surprise testimonial dinner as he was about to depart for Miami Florida to become the district manager of the National Council of Christians and Jews at the headquarters there, Humphrey left his own guests, made an unannounced entrance at the testimonial dinner, and gave a brief speech warmly praising Karl's great public service in the Twin Cities in radio and television and civic work, then returned to his own meeting.

"This was the way Hubert Humphrey is," says Ward. "He is very fond of young people, and this feeling is generally mutual."

Mrs. Humphrey, says Mrs. Ward, captivates everyone who is fortunate enough to meet her. "Everyone who knows her just loves her," she says.

"Hubert Humphrey has always done so many kind things for people," she recalls. "He is a most kind and compassionate person."

In 1967, the 3,188 aircraft owned by scheduled United States airlines flew more than 132 million passengers.

Your Horoscope By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)--There's a great deal more to this day than may appear on the surface. Look deep, look well. Do not be satisfied with brief or inadequate information where you are truly involved.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)--Efficiency need not necessitate abruptness or over-aggressiveness. But do avoid lethargy, procrastination, needless circuitous routes in carrying out day's program.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)--"Musts" for this day: Tolerance, maintenance of an even tempo in all things, a refusal to be arbitrary, and care in financial matters.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)--Hold to an even keel, seek the available best, and work as effectively as you can to improve present advantages: This reads like a winning program -- and it is!

LEO (July 24 to August 23)--An embarrassing moment, a disagreement not expected? Smile quickly and end the dilemma while you straighten out the CAUSE of the situation -- rationally, perceptively.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)--Especially favored now: Writings, communications generally; also intellectual and artistic pursuits. Day has some excellent offerings.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)--A lackadaisical attitude could rob you of a good opportunity, so be on guard. Keep alert and you will do a better job all around. Seek advantages; do not wait for them.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)--Neither expect nor demand too much and you will be surprised at your all-over returns. Really dandy influences for you who do your own work well, and offer an assist where you can.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)--Your innate good judgment and your forte for careful analysis will help you now. Some unusual suggestions, new propositions may be made. It will be up to you to judge their value.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)--Wield authority carefully -- even delicately at times. Some things could get out of hand if permitted. Stay as close to routine as possible. Seek facts.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)--System, accuracy, getting a bright start could put this potentially fine day "in the bag." Polish up a dormant talent for unique or unexpected use.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)--Precision will be important in work areas, but do not overtax yourself at the expense of health. A unique offer, a new acquaintance or a surprise in the offing.

YOU BORN TODAY: Advantages come to you sooner than to those who fear trials or difficult situations. They come to you because you are on the lookout for them -- through your reasoning powers, insight into others' ways, even their thinking -- AND by sturdy effort. This is the affable, successful YOU, once you have developed your many fine traits and potentialities. Weed out the negative traits of indolence and carelessness in matters which don't interest you. You have a simple, direct approach where it is needed.

How to Keep Well By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1968 By The Chicago Tribune

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE ALLERGIC CHILD

Asthma, hay fever, and other allergic manifestations are responsible for one-third of all chronic disorders in children under 17 years of age. Estimates show that 4.6 million youngsters in the United States have asthma severe enough to keep them home from school.

Asthmatic disorders often improve at or after puberty, but it is not possible to predict which child will be lucky. We do know that the prognosis is best when the cause is discovered soon after symptoms develop and proper treatment is started immediately. In this way, more serious allergic diseases of later life are avoided.

Allergic tendencies are inherited. Furthermore, some persons are more sensitive than others to pollens, foods, drugs, animal dander and other irritants. Emotional factors and general health also play a role. Tissues that bear the brunt of the allergy are called shock organs. In asthma, it is the lungs; when hay fever is present, it is the nose.

Other shock organs produce less obvious symptoms. All too often the manifestations are very common and the possibility of their being on an allergic basis seems unlikely. Gastrointestinal allergies in children may appear as abdominal pain, diarrhea, bloody stools, vomiting, distention, cold sores, rectal itching and mucous or ulcerative colitis.

Urinary tract misbehavior may be manifested by symptoms that vary from frequency of urination to enuresis (bedwetting). Allergies involving the respiratory tract and skin are well known. Headache, tension, fatigue syndrome, allergic fevers, convulsions and muscle pains are more remote. In addition, the chance of developing symptoms depends upon frequency of allergic exposure along with secondary influencers such as offensive odors from paint, hair spray, fish oil, and cigaret smoke.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

GRIN AND BEAR IT BY LCHTY

"This inflation is terrible! . . . Why, only a few elections ago you could have your intelligence insulted for half that amount!"

Conversational Counselling And Compost

By Bernie Wingert, County Agent

I've just finished browsing through the most recent issue of Pennsylvania Farmer and for the first time read resumes of the two major party candidates' farm policies.

One candidate says he'll put in a new Secretary of Agriculture. Both say we need to increase exports, but agree on little else about how to go about raising farm income.

This farm policy in our country has been quite a complicated problem for many years. Abraham Ribicoff, Senator from Connecticut, in a recent Readers Digest article says we could save the tax payers $2 billion a year if we discontinue the present agricultural act. Ribicoff just may be right, but it's not likely that anything is going to be drastically changed.

Here's why I believe that present farm programs will continue for some years to come, regardless of the fact that a smaller and smaller segment of our population is actively engaged in the production of crops and livestock.

First of all our Committee System is the key to what the nation's agricultural policy will be. Why do I say the Committee System is so important? Simply because we "re-elect" our Congressmen and Representatives more often from Agricultural states than from the Industrial states. Notice—the important word is "re-elect". This means that a senator or representative has seniority which gives a man an opportunity to be a chairman of a committee. As a senior member, if he isn't a chairman, he's at least a sub-chairman. Very seldom do a sub-chairman's recommendations get over ruled.

In 1965 I took a few moments to check on the chairmen of standing committees and found where they came from. This may surprise you but 24 chairmen of standing committees in both the House and Senate came from the South, 2 came from the midwest, 3 from the east, and 7 from the far west. Now remember these are 1965 figures, and I didn't check on this Year's chairmen when I started writing this column, but I'll wager they haven't changed much.

So what's so important about this? Simply that over three-fourths of the committee heads in our Federal government come from the Agricultural South and West. Only a very small proportion come from the industrialized East. Until this is changed it isn't very likely that the farm vote is going to be ignored. Committee chairmen rub each others' backs I'm told. It seems to me that as long as we have the committee system in Washington that farmers will continue to be in a strong political position regardless of their decreasing number.

It's really very simple -- Politicians like to be re-elected, and the South and West like to re-elect their men. So regardless of who our next President may be, it will surely be a miracle if anything is drastically changed in our Federal Farm Policy.

I may be completely wrong on this philosophical prediction. At least a lot of other folks are wrong these days, too, so I'll have company. I once read -- "Philosophy interprets the facts and sees the connection, meaning, development, plan and purpose implicit in the Blind And Confused Welter Of Events." I've felt for quite some time that one needs to be a philosopher to understand the Politics of Agriculture. For surely the blind and confused welter of events is staring us right in the face.

ART BUCHWALD

The Informer

WASHINGTON — Even in the "politics of confrontation," where everyone is up against the wall, there comes a moment of truth. It could come in a darkened, off-campus apartment where everyone is sitting around smoking pot and talking about Chicago. Or it could come on the steps of Columbia University at high noon during homecoming week. For my friend Tom Busted, the moment of truth came last week as he was addressing a group of student revolutionaries in a basement on a plan to blow out all telephones in the United States.

Buchwald

"Now this is my plan," Busted said. "Every student in America, and there are 11 million of us, will make a telephone call at exactly the same time. It will blow out every fuse in the United States and, without telephones, the whole blank, blank bourgeois, blank system in the country will collapse."

"What a blanking idea," one of the revolutionaries cried. "We've been blanking around the campuses when we should have been wrecking the telephone company."

"Beautiful," another revolutionary yelled. "And it's legal. No one can bust us for making a telephone call."

"But," said another revolutionary, "if it's legal, do we want to do it? I thought the revolution had to come about by breaking all the blanking laws."

"Sometimes," said Tom, "even in a revolution, you have to do something legal to bring down the Establishment."

"Let's hear it for Tom," a revolutionary said.

The group cheered wildly.

"Thanks a lot, brothers," Tom said. "But let's get on with the meeting. It's my birthday and my girl is baking me a cake."

"Hey, why didn't you tell us? Happy birthday, Tom."

"Yeh, happy birthday, Tom. Let's hear it for Tom's birthday."

They sang it, ending with "happy birthday, blanking Tom, happy birthday to you."

"How old are you, Tommy baby?"

"I'm . . . I'm . . . I'm 30." There was a dead silence in the basement.

"Thirty?" one of the revolutionaries said menacingly. "You dirty, rotten informer."

"What's the matter with you guys?" Busted yelled. "What did I say?"

"Here you were pretending you were one of us. We trusted you, we were willing to lay down our lives for you. And all the time you were giving us this jazz, you knew you were 30 years old."

"You're one of them!" a revolutionary shouted.

"I'm not one of them. I'm one of you," Tom protested. "It's not my fault I'm 30 years old."

"You sold out."

"I didn't sell out. I'm the same guy I was when I was 29. George, Max, Eddie, Joe, Jerry, you've known me for eight years. Am I different? I ask you."

"You're nothing but an old blankety pig."

"I say we split his head open."

"Put sugar in his gas tank."

"Slash his tires."

Tom was almost in tears. "Please, let me prove I haven't sold out. I'll burn my draft card again; I'll put a Viet Cong flag on the top of the Pentagon; I'll even hijack the football team's airplane. Let me show you I haven't changed."

Finally one of the revolutionaries said, "Don't trust anyone over 30. You told us that yourself."

"But that was five years ago," Tom protested. "When I was 25. I think we ought to move it up to, let's say, 35. Don't trust anyone over 35. How about that?"

"Turn in your Che Guevara button, Tom."

"No, not my Che Guevara button," Tom cried.

"Now get out of here, and if we ever see you at a student demonstration again, we'll shove a Mao Tse-tung placard right down your throat."

Tom walked out of the basement a pitiful, shaken old man, with nothing to look forward to but Medicare.

LARRY STOTZ

Something for Everyone

I have been in and out of forests for most of my life and should have a fairly clear idea of what they mean to me. I use the term "forests" in the broadest sense for I have encountered them in a variety of forms, in more than half a dozen different countries.

The house I live in is a product of the forest, and much of the lumber in it is hemlock that was cut somewhere in these hills. The bed I sleep in, the table I eat from, and the chairs I sit on are all made of wood. In my study is a wooden cuckoo clock from the Black Forest of Germany. My wooden book cases are filled with hundreds of volumes made from wood pulp. I eat my tossed salad from a salad bowl of yellow birch, and wipe the salad dressing from my chin with a paper napkin made from wood fiber. The rake and shovel that I use in my garden have wooden handles. When I go to church I sit in an oak pew while the minister preaches from a wooden pulpit. When my wife asks me to clean the windows I reach them by standing on a wooden ladder. Every time I eat stuffed olives I am reminded of the gnarled old olive trees that I saw in Spain. When I pull a cork from a bottle I think of the forests of cork oak that cover the foothills of the French and Spanish Pyrenees. When I sprinkle cinnamon on my toast I realize that I am eating the pulverized inner bark of a tree from Ceylon. The mixed nuts that I crack in a wooden bowl at Christmas time are products of the forest as are the holly, mistletoe, and Christmas tree.

Stotz

I am aware that there are over 4,500 uses for wood and wood fiber. I am a lover of books but were it not for the forests, paper would have to be made from rag stock and only the wealthy could afford the luxury of books.

Grateful as I am for the material things that come from the forests, I found out long ago that the forests were important to me in other ways. Perhaps it is because we are still a young country with a pioneer background that so many of us feel the irresistible urge to go into the forests. But I think that the roots of this obsession go back thousands of years to the time when our remote ancestors in Europe and the British Isles were forest dwellers and great hunters. Today, this urge is almost universal in our complex civilization.

I once saw a group of young hikers -- both boys and girls -- with ruck sacks on their backs heading out of Garmisch, Germany in the rain for a hike into the forests of the Bavarian Alps. In France on Bastille Day I saw the woods overflowing with people of all ages with their picnic lunches spread out on the ground under the trees. People the world over look to the forests for wholesome recreation and adventure. Year round forest recreation is the main impetus behind the increasing use of the forests by Americans.

There are still a few people, and I am one of them, who look upon the forest as a quiet place of great beauty that offers a retreat from the world -- a place where a man can get away from other people, cars, T.V., radio, and be alone with his thoughts. A little bit of solitude is good for the soul. It strengthens character and gives one a chance to gain a new perspective on life. Once a person learns to live alone in the forest, the wilderness will have left its stamp upon him and it will never leave him.

Living and working in the forests offer many intangibles that are hard to express in words. I know that they have influenced me. Of these intangibles, perhaps I am indebted most of all to the forests for a rich store of memories that no one can take from me. These include memories of snowshoeing through the Quebec woods under a full moon, leading a string of pack horses over a trail in the Montana Rockies, walking up to a bull moose as I rounded a bend in the trail in the Minnesota woods, sleeping on fragrant balsam bough beds under the stars, days spent on horseback rounding up cattle from the pine forests of New Mexico, exploring cliff dwellings in the canyon country of Arizona, the roar of an approaching crown fire, and the lonesome cry of my little friends the coyotes.

The Grand Army of the Republic—an organization of Union veterans of the Civil War—held annual encampments until 1949, more than 80 years after the Civil War had ended.

'THE PARENT TRAP'

In Walt Disney's "The Parent Trap," Hayley Mills portrays twins who, unknown to each other because their parents had separated, meet by chance at a summer camp and plot to reunite their family by switching places. The movie opens Wednesday at the Library Theater.

Selected Viewing

Saturday, 8:30 p. m. —TO-NIGHT IN PERSON introduces folk singer Judy Collins. At 26 years of age she has already achieved distinction. Her strong interpretive sensitivity and maturity delight her fans all over England in this performance.

Sunday, 8:30 p. m. — NET JOURNAL tonight presents "Asian Prayer, Asian Sword" which consists of two half-hour documentaries, one on religion in Japan, a secular, nationalistic ritual; another on terrorism in Tibet, directed by Tibetan exiles against Red Chinese forces.

Monday, 7:30 p. m. — WEATHER AND MAN's topic tonight is "Weather Watchers," as TV teacher Dr. Charles L. Hosler continues his lessons on the fundamentals of meteorology.

Tuesday, 10:30 p. m. — INVESTING IN THE STOCK MARKET tonight reviews common stock and compares it with preferred stocks and bonds. Witty Jim Bostain is host.

Wednesday, 8:30 p. m. — TV QUARTERBACKS tonight presents a special program on the men and the activity that goes on behind the scenes in the Penn State football program. Since the Nittany Lions have no game scheduled on Oct. 19, there will be a filmed report on the training room and the practice field, plus a review of the first half of the season.

Thursday, 9:00 p. m. — PENNSYLVANIA MAGAZINE features tonight a segment on how young people involve themselves in political campaigns and work for the election of their favorite candidates. There will be an interview with a political intern in Gov. Shafer's office in Harrisburg and a comparison of theory as taught in the political science classroom with politics on the job. The show also will report on the Upward Bound summer education program at Penn State.

Friday, 10:00 p. m. — NET PLAYHOUSE continues with "The Suspect." A middle-aged recluse becomes involved in a young girl's murder when his landlady discovers a towel in his room, covered with blood. She jumps to the wrong conclusion and suspects him of the murder.

We Face a Dilemma

By Nelson E. Beck, Pastor United Presbyterian Church of North Warren

Desert tribes have traditionally ravaged the more prosperous settlements that fringed their arid domains. Hacking their way through village streets and houses, they would scoop up the products of the harvest and return to their wasteland homes. But the Israelites of the post-Mosaic days had come to stay. Behind them were not only generations of slavery under Egyptian Pharaohs, but more recent years of struggle scraping together a living from the parched deserts of the Arabian Peninsula. Now, under Joshua, successor to the illustrious Moses, they had established a firm foothold in the Jordan-watered territory of Canaan. They would now change their shepherds' crooks for hoes and know a higher standard of living. While they caught their breath at this interval, with their invasion accomplished, their leader Joshua threw down a challenge that he believed essential. "You have accomplished much," he said in effect, "Now, to what end?" Or, as he put it to them, "Who will your God be?"

In some ways we stand at such a plateau in western civilization. We have attained a Promised Land unequalled by any generation that ever lived anywhere. Never before have people beheld such vistas. The moon is at fingertip; power unlimited waits the flick of a finger. But we face a dilemma. When the switch is flicked, will it be happy shouts of children playing in an atomic lighted park we hear, or will it be the screams of Nagasaki anew? Our plateau is in a twilight. It is uncertain at this moment of decision whether we await the dark or the dawn. Many questions are being asked of many people.

Many, many answers are being given, some vociferously and in anger. Perhaps we need ask the question put forth by the ancient General. "Who is your God anyway?" Perhaps we need pay attention to the testimony of the man, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

It would be pleasant if we could find a way out; avoid the painful decisions of the plateau. If we could only go back to a day before the bomb! But living in Colonial houses and worshipping in Gothic Churches won't provide an answer. Neither can we wear topless suits or transparent blouses. We are neither innocent like children nor primitive like the inhabitants of the Tropical Islands.

We are sophisticates. We have been to the tree of the knowledge of Good and Evil and the flaming sword guards the entrance and we can't get back to the garden of our innocence.

We can not go back, neither into the good old days nor into childhood. The reveries are pleasant but lead to frustration.

Nor can we escape into the future by saying, "Sure, we have problems today, but just wait until tomorrow when the shaded, fountains stretch from Boston to Baltimore and Chicago to Buffalo." It only takes a short stroll of one block to burst the bubble. The architect's sketch of nondescript trees and fleecy clouds doesn't show it, but the candid eye of the camera will. Just one block behind the shimmering steel and glass example of contemporary architecture often brings us face to face with sadness and pallor. The disconcerting realities bring us back to today with a jolt, and to our problems and our decisions. . . and who is going to be that God?

As the self-appointed world-maker, we stand on the plateau of major accomplishments, haunted by an uncertainty of just what has been created. Damned by our own ingenuity and condemned to decision. Dr. John Mackay, past President of Princeton Seminary, called ours an era of ghosts and crusaders. A time when ghosts of stable values and goals wander homeless, and the vacuum left by their going is filled with crusaders, who with martial gait, fill the air with noisy slogans, and the impatient and impetuous flaunt placarded half truths.

In twilight days, with retreat and escape cut off, and the necessity of telling decisions weighing hard upon weary hearts and overtaxed minds, perhaps it is not so much clever answers but basic questions that are in order. John Habgood, in his recent book

TRUTHS IN TENSION, may have a point when he comments that our particular era calls for an emphasis on digging rather than building. Perhaps we need hear with a new awareness an age old human question, "Who is my God anyway?" "What am I trying to do?" And hear once more one clear firm answer, "As for me, I will serve the Lord."

On College Grants

On the Republican side of the committee bench, the questioning was geared toward switching Pennsylvania's scholarship grants into a loans program. But the witnesses from the colleges and junior colleges and the community colleges were having none of it.

Neither was Senator Martin Murray, a Luzerne County Democrat who says you can almost throw a baseball at five colleges from downtown Wilkes-Barre.

The tab for grants by the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance grants is up to $48 million a year and still rising. Pressed hard by Milt Shapp when the two were running for governor back in 1966, Gov. Ray Shafer is moving toward a promise of $60 million in handouts to college students "by the end of my term" in 1970.

Senator D. Elmer Hawbaker (R-Franklin), who sometimes milks the cows before taking up his political chores of a morning, carefully steered clear of the use of the word "loans"—as opposed to the maximum grants of $800 a year that are now being parceled out.

But, he insisted at a Senate hearing on the operations of the PHEAA here this week, "people educated at public expense should bear an additional obligation."

Miss Marian Bonney, representing the University of Pittsburgh, argued back. Loans, she said, would create a burden on youngsters after they graduated. Added George Wolerich of the Community College of Philadelphia: "In some cases, loans would create a debt in the five figures, and that is too high when a student is just out of college and trying to pay off his first car, buy new clothes and raise a family."

Senator George N. Wade, an insurance executive from Camp Hill, was ready for Mr. Wolerich.

"How about the boy who goes into business? He can have an even greater debt," said the Cumberland County Republican.

Part of an answer came from the man from Lincoln University, "most" of whose students "come from Philadelphia ghetto areas," said Carl Brown: "It's hard enough to sell a $1,000 loan to a first generation college student whose family has been accustomed to loan sharking. A loan of $2,000 would be very discouraging."

But, contended Sen. Hawbaker, "We're still talking about taxpayers' money."

Haratine

"What," he asked, "about the truck driver who goes into tremendous debt to buy his own rig? An education doesn't wear out. A truck does."

"Who should be inconvenienced, these people who get the money or other people who don't benefit?"

Democratic Senator Murray insisted, however, that the loans are serving a worthwhile purpose. "These loans are helping an awful lot of youngsters who other wise would never see the inside of a college -- but who certainly deserve to be there," he said.

There are inequities in the distribution of the scholarship money, Murray acknowledged.

"But what we need is a more careful review of the applicants," he said, and the sky began to brighten for the college people.

But, he added, "You're a lot closer to this problem than anyone. Maybe you should put a little more effort into weeding out the free loaders."

Two Famous Prisoners

WASHINGTON--The United States would like to get rid of two famous prisoners, one a guest of the USA, the other a partial guest who is still being held in Europe.

One is Cardinal Mindszenty, who for 12 years has been an involuntary guest of the American embassy in Budapest.

The other prisoner is Rudolph Hess, Hitler's No. 2 man, who occupies the solitary splendor of huge Spandau prison in Berlin. He is all alone. The United States has suggested to the Russians that since he is the only war prisoner remaining and, since it is now 28 years since Hess parachuted down over England, he should be released. The Russians, however, say no.

Doubtless the Russians have in mind the fact that Hess dropped down into Scotland with the idea of persuading the British to form a coalition between the Anglo-Saxon countries against Russia. The Russians have long memories.

Meanwhile Hess, 74 years old and looking relatively young except for his white hair, is under the protection of all four occupying powers in West Berlin--the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain and France. Each country has a contingent of troops guarding the solitary prisoner. The United States sends its smartest troops, its tallest men to guard Hess. It's the only occasion when American troops are on display in comparison with those of other allied countries.

Periodically Maj. Gen. Robert Fergusson rotates as the commander in charge of Spandau prison. He has an interview with Hess at that time and also is available whenever the prisoner has a complaint to make. Hess has his own doctor and his own dentist. His only complaint is about the food. He wants more variety. Hess has refused to work in the prison garden as did other prisoners. But he exercises religiously in the garden and has kept his weight down.

Spandau prison was built in 1876 to house French prisoners after the Franco-German war. It is a massive, old-fashioned building, and now stands empty except for this one surviving prisoner. All others have been released. The United States has tried to persuade the Russians to transfer Hess to a smaller, more modern institution, but without success. He remains in the giant mausoleum alone.

In Budapest, Cardinal Mindszenty keeps quite busy in the American Embassy, which he has been occupying ever since the Hungarian revolt of 1956. He reads a lot, and every week or so hands the American Embassy a list of books he wants ordered. The Embassy has a fund, contributed by friends of the Cardinal, to supply these books. The Cardinal gets his exercise in the compound of the Embassy and is never seen outside the compound or his own private quarters.

The American Embassy in Budapest is small and American officials would be delighted if the Cardinal gave them more space. However, he turned down an offer from the Vatican and the Hungarian government to return to Rome, and insists on remaining in Hungary until he is recognized and reinstated. This the Hungarian government will never do.

Apparently the Cardinal is determined to remain in the American Embassy either until the Hungarian government relents or until he dies. He is now in his late 70s.

Meanwhile, the Hungarian police are on guard night and day outside the Embassy.

One of the few Democratic Congressmen who has had the guts to stand up against Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., the alcoholic chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, is headed in for trouble from Republicans. He is Rep. Lucien Nedzi of Detroit. Republican leaders are planning to dump about $100,000 into his district to defeat him.

His opponent is Peter O'Rourke, young attorney from the swank suburban area of Grosse Point, whose campaign manager is Robert Norsworthy, a former aide of Gov. George Romney. Republicans will doubtless deny that there is any connection between the campaign against Nedzi and Mendel Rivers. And probably O'Rourke doesn't even know how staunchly Republicans have defended the white-haired South Carolinian who dominates the Armed Services Committee.

However, time after time it's been the Republicans who have lined up with Rivers to protect him against liberal Democratic criticism. Nedzi on the other hand has opposed Rivers on extravagant expenditures for anti-ballistic missiles, has demanded meaningful changes in the draft act and has championed strong Congressional ethics.

Nedzi is waging his re-election campaign on a shoestring -- $10,000 but plans to use such eminent Republican outsiders as Mayor John Lindsay of New York.

Campaign Notes

Hubert Humphrey is getting a little rattled. It is now impossible, whereas yesterday it was only almost-impossible, to know what his true position is on bombing North Vietnam. Really, it requires a grim self-transcendence to call Mr. Nixon "shifty" under the circumstances. I can count five distinct positions Mr. Humphrey has taken on the bombing in the last three months. Students of the subject could no doubt better that, and it is certainly predictable that future schoolboy examinations will not include the question "Answer, true or false, did Hubert Humphrey advocate unilateral cessation of the bombing when he ran for president in 1968?" Or perhaps, in our permissive age, the question will be used. It is a fine student-coddler, because both answers are correct.

It does take a lot of gall, does it not; and politicians are really wonderful, I mean wonderful. Here is Hubert Humphrey calling George Wallace and Curtis LeMay the "Bombsey Twins." Now in the first place, George Wallace has no foreign policy. It is not established that he even knows where foreign policy is. When the time came a couple of weeks ago to announce a foreign policy, he ran in one of those stock foreign policy positions which might have appeared in the New York Times Sunday Magazine as the seasonal article by Barbara Ward. Curtis LeMay believes that bombs should be used when the exclusive alternative is surrender. If Mr. Humphrey believes otherwise, he should certainly declare himself in what would prove to be an apoplectic utterance. But to refer to others as the Bombsey Twins when he has gleefully participated along with Mr. Johnson in dropping more bombs on North Vietnam than the generals of the Allied Powers managed to drop on all of Europe during a five-year war is, well -- Jews have a wonderful word for it, but I forget what it is.

As for Mr. Nixon, he is doing all right. It was good for him that Congress did not act so as to give the networks the right to exclude Wallace and to stage a two-day debate. Good because he is ahead, and it would make no sense at all, from his point of view, to jeopardize what after all he believes to be the national interest -- his own election -- on a single forensic encounter with a highly hopped-up opponent who would be willing to gamble a great deal.

The failure of Congress to act in 1964 in a similar situation--Candidate Barry Goldwater had challenged Lyndon Johnson to debate--was conspicuously the work of our old friend Hubert Humphrey. That, of course, makes it a little bit more difficult for Mr. Humphrey to press the point. A little bit more difficult but not impossible, because, as we have seen, Mr. Humphrey finds no inconsistency impossible.

Mr. Nixon, meanwhile, is said to be studying the report brought in from Europe by William Scranton, who went over there under the regal auspice of shadow - foreign - minister. There are those who say that Mr. Nixon's rejection of Nelson Rockefeller for Secretary of State, if indeed that rejection has been done, was due to Mr. Nixon's desire to be the incontestably controlling voice in the foreign policy of his own administration. The hypothetical conversation went something like this: "Look, Nelson, I want to act as my own Secretary of State. Therefore I'm going to name Scranton."

Actually, Scranton is a tough hombre, though his views on foreign policy are not widely known, and indeed may not be closely formulated. He is said to have reported back from his trip in Europe that our cousins over there desire above all that the United States put its domestic house in order, restore tranquility, and achieve unity among the races, and that we continue to pay the major cost of the defense of Europe.

Considering the recent riots in Madrid-Rome-Berlin, considering the explosions in France, considering the explicitly racist policies of the government of Great Britain directed against colored immigration, one can only conclude that Europe, like Humphrey, has developed the faculty of finding in others exactly those faults which are flagrantly one's own. But it is nice to have the advice, and Mr. Scranton should report back that we shall certainly take it into consideration.
